43 Now Dead In Train Crash

NAPERVILLE, Ill., April 26 (AP)—Weary rescue workers today counted at least 43 dead in a terrific rear-end collision of the Burlington R. R.'s westbound fast Exposition Flyer and Advance Flyer yesterday. Of 125 persons injured when the Exposition Flyer, speeding at more than 60 miles an hour, rammed the stopped

Freighter Runs Aground Off Coast of Maine

ISLE AU HAUT, Me., April 26 —Bound from New York to Nova Scotia, the 3000-ton freighter Horace H. Watson went hard aground on the lee side of this island today and radioed a plea to the Coast Guard for immediate assistance.

A crew of 38 officers and men were reported aboard the vessel, which ran aground in rain and fog and was being menaced by heavy seas piled up by 25 to 30-mile-an-hour winds. She was reported taking water in her No. 1 hold.

Coast Guard officials dispatched the tender Cowslip from Portland and the tender Hibiscus from Boston, and other Navy craft were ordered diverted to the scene.

After some time a crew was rounded up to put aboard a cutter at the Rockland station, which is on a caretaker basis, and this rescue craft was expected to reach the scene at 4:30 p. m. The Cowslip was due at the scene at 8 p. m. and the Hibiscus later.

Driving rain prevented the Coast Guard from sending up a plane as visibility in the area was reported at less than 300 feet.

Coast Guard officials reported the vessel's position was not too good.

Although she went aground on the lee side, the island did not afford the ship sufficient protection from the wind and seas.

The vessel, in ballast, was bound for Windsor, N. S., to pick up a cargo of gypsum when she ran aground just after dawn. The island is about 25 miles due east of Rockland in the outer reaches of Frensham bay.

The ship radioed her plight to her owners who, in turn, notified the Coast Guard.

The freighter, 258 feet long, is about 25 years old and has been operating as a War Shipping Administration vessel. She is owned by the Lykes Bros. Steamship Co., of New Orleans.

British Blow Up 'Annie' the Bomb

LONDON, April 26 (AP)—"Annie," the half-ton German time bomb which suddenly started ticking two days ago after resting harmlessly for five years in St. James Park, was blown up at the bottom of its 30-foot shaft by a bomb disposal squad tonight.

The blast shook windows in Buckingham Palace, 350 yards away, but there was no damage.

MAN KILLED BY HORSE

BROCKTON, April 26 —Anthony F. Boguzas, 66, of King st., West Hanover, died today at the South Shore Hospital, Weymouth, from injuries suffered when a horse he was hitching to a heavy farm wagon yesterday ran away, dragging the wagon over his body.

The Weather

LOCAL—Rain, becoming intermittent this afternoon and ending this evening. Cloudy and continued cool tonight, with the lowest temperature about 38. Sat. partly cloudy and continued cool. Twenty to 30 miles per hour northerly winds.

Sun rises, 4:46 a. m.; sets, 6:38 p. m.
High tide, 7:30 p. m.; low tide, 1:30 a. m.

"WHO IS SHE?"—Movie fans throughout the nation today will swoon when they hear that Trygve Lie, UN secretary-general, when asked to pose with curvaceous Lana Turner, agreed and then politely asked: "Who is she?" When informed, Lie said: "You know I haven't seen a movie in five years." Item was reported at last night's UN anniversary dinner.

Bus Strikes Hit Virginia, Spokane

SPOKANE, Wash., April 26 (INS)—Spokane's 110,000 residents were without mass transportation today because of a strike of 218 bus drivers and 93 shop men of the Spokane city bus lines.

WASHINGTON, April 26 (INS)—An estimated 50,000 residents of near-by Virginia were left without transportation today when drivers and maintenance men employed by the Arnold-operated bus line walked out.

Advance Flyer, 31 remained in hospitals, some in critical condition. All but five of the dead had been identified.

The engineer of the Exposition Flyer, who Burlington Railroad officials said had adequate warning of the preceding train had stopped, was charged with manslaughter. Dupage County officials said, however, this was a technicality to make certain the engineer would appear at an inquest and that no evidence of laxity had been uncovered.

The crash of the two steel car Diesel-powered trains occurred just 31 minutes after they left Chicago's Union Station. The Advance Flyer, carrying 150 to 200 passengers in nine coaches, was bound for Omaha and Lincoln, Neb. The Exposition Flyer, made up of 11 coaches and carrying 175 to 200 persons, was headed for San Francisco.

Two minutes after the Advance Flyer made an unscheduled stop in this village of 5287, a terrific crash roared through the countryside as the Exposition Flyer plowed into the rear of the stalled train.

A moment of tragic silence was broken by screams and cries for help from the dying and injured.

At first there was complete confusion. Huge, shining passenger coaches were strewn across torn tracks, some in tangled wreckage.

The cries of the dying came mostly from the rear coach of the Advance Flyer, where passengers were trapped. Others groped in bewilderment for escape from the mass of steel wreckage.

Eleven coaches were overturned or left the rails, six on the Advance Flyer and five on the Exposition Flyer.

As Burlington officials pursued their investigation of the worst accident in its history, and also the most tragic in the Chicago area, State Atty. Lee Daniels of Du Page County said a warrant charging manslaughter had been issued for W. W. Blaine, 68, of Galesburg, Ill., engineer of the Exposition Flyer.

Daniels said that Blaine, for more than 43 years a railroad man, told him that just before the collision fireman E. H. Crayton warned him he was going to strike the Advance Flyer. He said Crayton apparently jumped before the crash and was killed.

Blaine, however, stayed at his throttle as his train sped toward the stalled Advance Flyer. The Exposition Flyer's silver nose plowed into the rear coach and for a fleeting moment appeared to stagger in the air, tear through the roof, then plunge with terrific force upon the floor and trucks of the car.

The engineer suffered a skull fracture, the prosecutor said, and will not be arraigned on the manslaughter warrant for at least two weeks or until he is released from a hospital where he is under guard.

Parents of Hub Radio Official Killed

Among those killed in the Naperville, Ill., train wreck were Mr. and Mrs. Matthew L. Lawrence of Escanaba, Mich., parents of Craig Lawrence, vice-president of the Cowles Broadcasting Co., who is in charge of Station WCOP in Boston.

And Why All the Fuss? He Asks

HOUSTON, Mo., April 26 (AP)—Pretty 16-year-old Vinnie Sutton and her 74-year-old bridegroom can't understand why all the fuss over their Easter Sunday wedding by their neighbors and the world outside their Ozark hill surroundings.

Thrice-wed W. T. Sutton, looking healthy and active, smiled fondly at his blonde Vinnie today as she tied up the five-room house on his 814-acre farm and said:

"Why they're printing stories about us in all the papers. You'd think there was something peculiar about this marriage."

Sutton explained he had first noticed Vinnie when she'd pass his farm on the way to town for her mother, Mrs. Bessie Holden, who lived on the adjoining place. They were engaged a year before their marriage, approved by Vinnie's mother.

"She's a mighty good cook and a mighty sweet girl."

Vinnie, one of seven children, quit school at the end of the sixth grade.

There was no honeymoon. Vinnie decided there was a "lot of work to do around here." She mentioned curtains for the windows; linoleum for the bare floors. Sutton, county surveyor as well as farmer, figured the place could stand a woman's touch. It hadn't had one for 11 years.

His first wife died and his second marriage ended in divorce. His two children have married.

Sutton admitted his two children weren't exactly pleased with the wedding.

The improvements around the house are up to his bride but the outside work in his, Sutton said, adding:

"I milk the cows."

$400,000 Hotel Fire in Brookline

Brandon Hall, luxurious Beacon st., Brookline, apartment hotel which housed hundreds of SPARS during the war, was destroyed by a three-alarm fire of undetermined origin today with damage unofficially set at $400,000.

Two firemen were injured and six from Boston narrowly escaped by leaping to an adjoining apartment building as the hotel roof and floors collapsed as a result of a basement explosion.

FLED—Charles and Fay Leavitt were among scores routed from their Beacon st. homes by the threatening Brandon Hall fire.

2 Falmouth Men Seized In Cape Fire

Two Falmouth men were arrested today and charged with kindling the big Cape Cod fire at Sandwich which roared over 50,000 acres of woodland last week.

The men, Ruby Antone, 27, and Theodore Andrade, 34, both of Clifford st., were arrested in their home by State Police Detective Harold Pelouquin after a two-day investigation.

Both pleaded not guilty in Barnstable court to charges of willfully burning trees on the Myron Whitney estate in Sandwich—levied by the raging Cape blazes—as well as to an additional charge of destroying woods by fire. Judge Paul Swift continued the case until May 3 and remanded the defendants to Barnstable County House of Correction when they were unable to raise bail of $2000.

Detective Pelouquin said the first information leading to the Falmouth men came from Patrolman Morris Hinckley of the Barnstable police.

Film Musicians Get 33 P.C. Hike

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP)—The AFL American Federation of Musicians said today it had accepted a 33 per cent pay increase in settling wage negotiations with eight major motion picture producing companies.

The AFM, headed by James C. Petrillo, originally had asked a 100 per cent boost.

Settlement was announced jointly by Petrillo and Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pictures and head of the producers' negotiating group.

Both termed the results "very fine."

Hoseman John Taylor, who suffered a broken ankle from a "snaking" hose, and Frank Downs, cut on the arm by flying glass, were treated at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital and sent home.

Tons of water poured into the flaming structure cascaded down a slope in the rear of the building and flooded a small park and the cellars of several homes in the area below the Beacon st. level.

Boston Elevated traffic on the Beacon st. line was shut off between Coolidge Corner and Washington sq. as firemen ran hose lines across the tracks. Buses were pressed into service to detour passengers around the area.

More than 50 families in adjoining apartment buildings were forced into the rain-swept streets as the sparks and blazing embers from the burning hotel threatened to ignite near-by structures.

Five hours after the first alarm was sounded firemen still were pouring water into the smoldering shell of the hotel, which recently had been abandoned by the Coast Guard and was to be renovated for civilian use.

Several hundreds persons were understood to have made down payments on apartments they planned to occupy after the remodeling, according to reports at the scene.

Fire officials were unable to determine the cause of the blaze immediately, but there were indications that its origin was suspicious.

Sgt. William H. Andrews, 18, Greensboro, S. C., one of two coast-guardmen on fire watch, reported he had found a rear basement door of the building unlocked a few moments before the fire was discovered. Several minutes earlier he and MM 3c Henry Swinarski, 21, Hathaway st., Lynn, had checked back with Coast Guard headquarters after completing a round of the building and finding nothing amiss.

Ten minutes later, however, they smelled smoke in the first floor corridor, saw flames in the basement, and sounded an alarm. The fire quickly spread out of control and second and third alarms were sounded, summoning help from the Boston, Belmont, Newton and Wellesley fire departments.

Soon smoke and flames were belching from windows throughout the big structure. So thick were the fumes that spectators standing on the opposite side of Beacon st. were choked.

At the height of the blaze there was a terrific basement explosion, apparently caused when the flames reached tanks of ammonia used for the building's refrigeration system.

The blast ripped through all floors of the hotel and caused the roof to collapse, endangering the lives of many fire fighters.

Six Boston firemen, who had made their way to the roof in an effort to fight the flames through a ventilator, managed to leap six feet to safety on the roof of an adjoining building. Lt. Irving Johnson, in charge of the detail, was swung to safety from the collapsing roof as his men formed a human chain from the roof of the other building.

Rain flattened the great pillar of smoke that erupted from the caved-in roof. The smoke cloud made its way into all homes within a two-block area and many persons left their beds to flee into the rainy outdoors for safety.

Fire lines and apparatus completely blocked the in-bound side of Beacon st., causing a tie-up of morning traffic headed for Boston.

Bogus Harvard Crimson Issue Called a 'Lampoon'

An unexpected extra edition of the Harvard Crimson hit the streets of Cambridge today announcing the University was abandoning intercollegiate football, but Crimson editors, repudiating the issue, declared they had been "lampooned."

"Undoubtedly this was done in retaliation for the Crimson's feat last April in draping their sacred ribs, marking our return to the days of our prewar glory," explained a Crimson editor. "Apparently the Lampoon finds it easier to meet our publication schedule than it does its own and this bogus edition of the Crimson is just about up to the Lampoon's intellectual level."

The well-circulated copy of the Crimson announced that President Conant had ordered the abandonment of football and possibly other major sports as well and that Coach "Dick" Harlow would resign shortly. It carried quotations expressing regret over the action, purportedly coming from distinguished alumni and former athletes.

"They matched our type pretty closely, although some of the heads were off," the Crimson editors said. "Of course they won't be able to collect for any of the ads, which they apparently copied, along with college notices, from our issue."

Crimson editors, caught on an off-day for publication—the Crimson appears each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday—hastily put out handbills repudiating the issue, a half-hour after it appeared on the streets in Harvard sq. and the university environs.

The Crimson editors said: "The Crimson will publish its regular edition tomorrow and naturally will have something to say about this."

scores of the less affluent who had called him friends—thronged Our Lady of Victory Church for a solemn high mass of requiem.

The church was filled and several hundred more stood beneath umbrellas outside in a driving rain. Front doors of the Letendre mansion were unhinged to permit passage of the big bronze casket, borne by eight pallbearers the short 300 yards from home to the church. Our Lady of Victory stands a short distance down Prospect st. and only 150 feet from the intersection where Letendre was ambushed and riddled with bullets last Tuesday morning.

The mass was celebrated by the Rev. Henry Robitaille, with the Rev. Andre Lefebvre serving as deacon.

Then began the two-mile ride to the Precious Blood Cemetery, where the body was lowered into a grave in the Letendre family plot.

At least 250 cars were in the cortege. In the first was the victim's wife, near collapse since the slaying. Supporting her were Eugene Letendre of Manchester, N. H., a brother, and Mr. and Mrs. James Morley, daughter and son-in-law of the murdered sportsman.

The second car carried Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. McKenna, another daughter and son-in-law, their three children, and Jacob Jennings, a former business partner.

Honorary pallbearers included the presidents of both Rhode Island race tracks, Judge James E. Dooley of Narragansett and Henry Lapan of Pascoag. Others were Raymond J. McMahon, Narragansett secretary, and local businessmen, Henry Plais, Joseph Bliss, John Wright, Frederic W. Rounds and Frederick Greene.

Democratic Rule Flayed By Maine's Rep. Smith

"The Democratic party and the Democratic administration have grown decadent—plagued with a lack of initiative, imagination and ability to get things done. The administration has bogged down at the end of a blind alley because of its do-nothing policy of coasting." This charge of political inertia was made today before the New England Conference of Women Republican leaders by Rep. Margaret Chase Smith, Maine Republican.

She cautioned her listeners, however, that the Republicans couldn't criticize unless they could offer something better, adding: "We can't find the solution unless we analyze the problems."

America today faces three major problems, Rep. Smith said. She listed them as (1) the international organization for permanent peace and our relations with Britain, China and Russia; (2) domestic reconversion, and (3) the continuation of social reforms.

Three courses are open to us internationally, Rep. Smith said. These were (1) to expand and strengthen ourselves so as to be powerful enough to be safe from attack; (2) to join a block of nations and defy attack by any nation or combination of nations, or (3) extend every effort and thought behind the UN and make it work.

"The welfare of the entire world rather than an individual nation is the primary concern of the UN," Rep. Smith asserted. "This, and only this, breeds peace. To me, the barometer of the success of the UN will be the frequency and intensity of open disagreements and arguments rather than uneventful and tranquil sessions."

Urging women to take a more active part in civic affairs, she expressed belief a woman who is successful in business and politics can at the same time be a competent and successful mother or wife.

"Mothers and wives can make a very constructive contribution to their country by engaging in vital civic affairs," she declared. "They can take part in such activities as the Parent-Teachers' Ass'n, the Red Cross, the Community Chest, public forums, yes, even politics."

Deadlock on Spain, Council Adjourns

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP)—Australia proposed again today a United Nations Security Council subcommittee investigate Franco Spain and the delegates then adjourned for week-end consultations with their governments with Russia alone opposed to any sort of inquiry.

"I think I made myself clear yesterday," Soviet Delegate Gromyko told newsmen as he walked to his limousine.

The council will meet Monday at 3 p. m. to consider the latest attempt to find a common ground for action.

Gromyko came out yesterday against any committee or commission investigation of Franco Spain with the contention Spain already is a proven menace to peace and an inquiry would be merely a "palliative" and excuse for inaction.

Provision for an investigation was retained in the revised proposal put before the council today by Lt. Col. W. R. Hodgson, Australian delegate.

Hodgson reported when the Council met today he had been successful in his talks during the night with Henri Bonnet, French delegate, and Dr. Oscar Lange, Polish delegate, in an attempt to reconcile the differences which produced confusion in yesterday's session.

Thus it was indicated Poland and France would back the Australian proposal.

N. E. Faces Dairy, Poultry Shortage

New England's dairy and poultry industries will suffer greatly if action is not taken immediately to improve the feed supply now available in this part of the country, the New England Governors were told today during a conference at Hotel Kenmore.

Agriculture commissioners from six states informed the Governors the shortage of feed in the past two months has led to a large reduction in the number of hatched chickens and they predicted it would result in reduction of dairy herds.

Ely Wickham, representative of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, told the conference New England has received "more than its fair share of available feed."

He also said the present government purchases of corn at 30 cents a bushel over the ceiling price might interfere with future movement of corn into New England. Comr. Andrew L. Felker of New Hampshire said he had been informed the corn being bought by the government was for export.

WALTER S. FISCHER DIES

Gov. Tobin and Most Rev. Louis J. Kelleher, auxiliary bishop of Boston, will be speakers at a dinner in honor of Very Rev. William L. Kelleher, S. J., president of Boston College, at the Hotel Somerset next Tuesday night.

These Days

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

ACCEPTING former Justice Owen Roberts' dictum that the United Nations charter is a weaker document than the covenant of the League of Nations, the American experience with its constitution affords the prospect that a will to decision may of itself establish strength.

What this country might have become had there been no John Marshall is today idle speculation; nevertheless, it was the willingness and ability of the Supreme Court to put steel into words without the exercise of force that established here a free nation for free men, powerful without despotism, cohesive without oppression.

The decision of the Security Council to continue the Iran case on the agenda seems, to many, quibbling about nothing; actually it involves the broadest issues of international comity. It means:

BRIDE ARRIVES—A new life in a new country began for Mrs. Jeanne Moore, Parisian war bride, when she landed in New York aboard the S.S. Brazil from overseas. She is making her new home with her veteran husband in Wellesley.

1—That every country, in its international relations, is subject to investigation by the United Nations, once a charge has been filed against it, thus, further limiting national sovereignty;

2—That no powerful nation charged with wrong-doing may, without recourse, coerce a weak and backward nation into withdrawing or modifying the original charge—only the United Nations itself may dismiss a complaint;

3—That international agreements, once made, if unfulfilled, are subject to publication, investigation, discussion and decision.

NONE OF THIS means that the United Nations can enforce its will short of war, and at a given moment, war may be impractical or may be assumed so, as in the Manchurian and Ethiopian issues before the League.

The strength of a judicial-legislative body, such as the Security Council, cannot be measured by the number of wars it invokes, but by its capacity to enforce its decisions without recourse to war.

In the Iranian case, the issues are clear: The Russians agreed to withdraw their troops from Persia by March 2. This they did not do. Iran complained to the Security Council. Russia set May 6 as the next date for the accomplishment of complete withdrawal.

Meanwhile, Iranian Communists, a branch of the Russian Foreign Office, as Communists all over the world are, rebelled in Northern Iran, established a private revolutionary army, embarrassed the existent government in its international dealings.

Weak, frightened, coerced, Iran withdrew her complaint. The Security Council declined to recognize withdrawal by coercion.

ONLY THREE NATIONS stood together for indecency in international relations: Soviet Russia, Poland and France. It is a curiosity of history that the two nations that had suffered most from Hitler's cynical imperialism, Poland and France, should today abjectly support Stalin's cynical imperialism, which while identical in character is achieved by more sinister means.

France, once the protector of human right, is moved neither by principles of right and justice nor by ideals of survival, but only by the immediate fear of a Russian-fomented revolution and seizure of power. Poland is a puppet reduced to spiritual as well as physical penury.

In his leading decision in McCulloch v. Maryland, John Marshall said:

"... The powers delegated to the State sovereignties were to be exercised by themselves, not by a distinct and independent sovereignty, created by themselves. To the formation of a league, such as was the confederation, the State sovereignties were certainly competent. But when, in order to form a more perfect union, it was deemed necessary to change this alliance into an effective government, possessing great and sovereign powers, and acting directly on the people, the necessity of referring it to the people, and of deriving its powers directly from them was felt and acknowledged by all."

"The government of the Union, then . . . is, emphatically, and truly, a government of the people. In form and in substance it emanates from them. Its powers are granted by them, and are to be exercised directly on them, and for their benefit."

Salome May Dance Yet in Movie House

Broadway the rhythmic portrayal that created a furor in her home town.

Law prohibits minors from performing in New York clubs where liquor is served, but a spokesman for Billy Rose said an attempt will be made to arrange a performance for Beverly in a theater.

"We can't bear to disappoint the kid," he said, announcing Rose will pay Beverly her promised $200 per week for the two-week nightclub engagement which police called off.

Beverly, recalling the furor her dance had caused in Van Dyke, a Detroit suburb, said:

"Little did I dream when I created my Salome dance in our living room that so much would happen because of it."

Actually, the dance itself has never been under controversy. In Van Dyke it was the costume that caused the trouble. In New York it's Beverly's age.

When the night club show went on, the youngster who was to have been the stellar attraction took a bow from the sidelines and looked soulfully and wide-eyed at the professional entertainers. She had never seen a nightclub show before, and she watched it sipping milk.

Her mother, Mrs. Eugene Carlson, didn't laugh at the racy jokes. She looked as though she regretted having left Van Dyke. Beverly told a reporter:

"I'm tired of being on exhibition and not doing anything. I wasn't nervous about appearing. I wanted to dance. I want to know if the public likes my dancing."

How did she like New York now?

"I haven't seen New York except the lights of Broadway from a taxicab. I've been too busy rehearsing."

Everyone at the Horseshoe—where diamonds are few and only on the customers' fingers—seemed to know more about what had happened than Beverly and her mother. The pair of them looked pretty much like the bewildered victims of a publicity campaign. Since their arrival Monday, they have stayed at three hotels, none of them first class. Today they move to a fourth.

He Loses Wife, Keeps Children

Although he granted Mrs. Ethel B. Curtis of Braintree a divorce and $20 weekly alimony on cruelty grounds, Judge Reynolds in Dedham probate court today awarded custody of two teen-age daughters to their father, Arthur B. Curtis, Quincy real estate dealer and former Army Air Force captain.

Curtis, whose cross cruelty complaint was dismissed, testified his wife treated the children, Marshal, 15, and Alicia, 13, "brutally," and beat them with sticks and broom handles. The two girls, called the bench, told the judge they wanted to live with their father.

Mrs. Curtis collapsed at the verdict and after being treated by Dr. Frank W. Musche of Dedham was taken home in an ambulance.

On the press—"... And those appalling murder stories. I'm not at all surprised at juvenile delinquency. What sort of ideals are those to hold up to people?"

On the movies—"Film actresses can't seem to get settled in matrimony—or anything else."

On radio—"Though the British Broadcasting system is dull, it is at least decent and we don't sell everything. If I were the women of America I'd do something about the broadcasts."

On men—"The men of today can get away with murder."

On young people—"Young people of today hardly know right from wrong, with their broken homes, war and bad examples."

On Hitler's perfect women—"Oh, they looked brave and bustling enough."

On the East End London counterpart of same—"More guts than a whole regiment of German women."

On the courage of our postwar convictions—"If you don't have them we'll be blown to bits."

Lady Astor spoke at the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs' final convention session here last night.

Dog Kidnap Case to Jury

The case of Bruce Lord, 41, Quincy "hair sculptor," charged with two counts of kidnaping and three counts of morals offenses, was given to the jury today in Norfolk superior court. Dedham, after Judge Walter L. Collins ordered directed verdicts of not guilty on two additional morals charges.

During the three-day trial, Henry Moisan, former Army aviator, and John Thomas, 21, both of Quincy, testified that Lord, with the aid of his 190-pound Great Dane, Marcus, had forced them to remain overnight in his beauty parlor. Lord denied the charges.

Uncertain Age

LOS ANGELES, April 26 (AP)—John Dickou didn't age two years in 24 hours, but here's what the police blotter shows:

Dickou was booked on a drunk charge late Wednesday, freed 27 minutes later; booked again the next morning on a similar charge, released three and one-half hours later; arrested again an hour and a half afterward.

The first two times, he gave his age as 56. Last time, police said, he just shook his head and said 58.

Bill Urged to Permit South End Housing

Atty. Philip Nichols, chairman of the State Housing Board, asserted today the cathedral housing project in the South End, banned because of a technicality in the Boston building code, is a lot safer than other types of buildings which the code allows.

Nichols recommended the legislature pass a general bill to permit construction of the cathedral project type of building rather than attempt to get approval of the South End building plans by making an exception in present laws.

Earlier, Chairman John Carroll of the Boston Housing Authority announced that the $5,000,000 South end project, on which $90,000 already has been spent for land and blueprints, was "definitely out right now" because of the type of stairways planned.

"I am familiar with the plans for the cathedral project and would regard those buildings as even safer than any which could be built by private builders under the Boston building code," Atty. Nichols said.

He added that the buildings planned were thoroughly fireproof, safe, that they had no long corridors, and that the means of egress which the plans called for would in no way endanger residents.

Nichols declared buildings of this type had been erected in New York and were highly regarded by eminent architects and building officials.

Carroll explained that because of a building code technicality involving the position of stairways in plans for the dwellings, approval had been successively denied by the city building commission, its board of appeals, the legislative public safety committee and the House of Representatives.

Meanwhile, Mayor Curley announced he planned to confer with federal authorities and ask for additional funds so that one and two-family houses would be erected instead on the South End project site. Original plans called for construction of one 12-story building, four 10-story and four 6-story buildings to house 514 families.

"I favor individual houses over apartments," Curley said. "The best housing for Boston would be one and two-family homes eventually to be owned by the people who rent them."

Sumner K. Wiley, regional FHFA director, termed the South End project "Boston's own problem," and stated the federal government would not intervene.

Jeremiah Sullivan, acting executive director of the Boston Housing Authority, asserted the refusal of the House of Representatives to approve the project was the latest in a series of rejections.

"We are trying to do everything possible to expedite housing for veterans, but are impeded at every turn by red tape and have been buffeted around for four or five months," Sullivan said.

Feed Your Dog as Many Famous Breeders Do

"...keep in A-1 condition..."

Red Hall, owner of Rodall Kennels, Lincoln, Nebraska, writes: "I own and operate a kennel of 100 Black Labradors, and have Kellogg's G-R-PUP be the right kind of food for my dogs. It helps them develop strong bones and teeth, and helps them keep in A-1 condition. I heartily recommend it."

MOST breeders and veterinarians use and recommend a foundation diet of good dry dog food with scrap meat, including fat. So many feed Kellogg's G-R-PUP because it provides all the vitamins and minerals dogs need for growth and vigor.

Kellogg's G-R-PUP is thrifty. And dogs love its hearty, meaty flavor.

5 in Lawrence Felled by Fumes

LAWRENCE, April 26—Fumes from a gas heater in the empty kitchen of the apartment from which they were moving today, felled a 27-year-old mother and her four children.

Mrs. Mary Urso of Middle st. was dressing the children, Iratius, 8; Rose, 7; Rita, 4, and Joseph, 2, preparatory to taking them to the home of her mother with whom they were to stay while she was on a visit to her husband, Joseph, now working in San Jose, Cal.

According to police, Mrs. Urso had turned on the heater to take the chill off the empty room. William Coco, second floor occupant, heard the children scream and broke in to find them suffering from inhalation of fumes.

The victims were rushed to the Lawrence General Hospital. It was said they were not in serious condition.

5 Yrs. to Cool Off His 'Hot Blood'

An attorney's appeal his client, Charles Huston, 27-year-old Negro, Wellington st., South End, was "hot blooded," drew a retort from Judge Donnelly in Suffolk Superior Court today "that's what we have coolers for." The judge sentenced Huston to three 5-to-6 year concurrent terms in State Prison.

Huston was convicted of assaulting Patrolman William A. Oliver of the Roxbury Crossing Station, and Ralph Neimi, Pompeii st., Roxbury, with a knife, March 14 when they attempted to halt him from accosting two women on a Roxbury street corner. The defendant had a previous record for assault on police officers.

Sleeping Family Saved by Vet

HAVERHILL, April 26—When fire swept a two-story wooden dwelling in North Broadway, a recently returned veteran proved himself a hero by aiding four persons to escape over ladders after they had become trapped on a porch.

Flames licking at his feet awakened John Morton, 24, asleep on a couch in the den of his home. Rousing his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Morton, a brother, Richard, 28, and a guest, Miss Margo Bourneus, 22, he led them through the only clear exit to the porch. Firemen placed ladders against the porch and the five were able to climb down before it was destroyed. Fire Chief Benjamin L. Chase estimated damage at $5000.

Bartender Wife Cruel, He Says; Wins Divorce

While he was driving buses between Boston and Philadelphia his wife got a job as bartender, Thomas S. Graves, Fairfield st., Back Bay, told Judge Dillon in winning an uncontested divorce in Suffolk probate court today from Julia W. Graves. He charged cruelty.

"She told me she was working as a waitress," Graves testified, "but when I went down to where she was employed I found she was tending bar. I protested and she beat me up in the street."

The housing shortage didn't add any bliss to her second try at marriage. Mrs. Aline Pasco Wharton Berg, testified in support of her cruelty charge against Joseph L. Berg, her second husband. Her divorce was granted by Judge Wilson.

A charge of neglect won a divorce for Mrs. Annie D. Steiman, Brainerd rd., Allston, from William Steiman, a government radio mechanic, of Jacksonville, Fla., and a $20 a week support order.

Mrs. Albert G. Fowler, Beacon st., Back Bay, won a divorce on cruelty grounds from Walter H. Fowler, Queensbury st., Back Bay, a Seabee assigned to the 37th Naval Construction Battalion. She said her husband drank excessively.

Girl, 14, Gives Police Busy Day

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 26 (INS)—New Orleans juvenile court authorities had hold of a "wildcat,"—and couldn't turn it loose.

The wildcat was a 14-year-old Washington, D. C. girl, who has left a trail of jangled nerves since her arrest as a juvenile delinquent.

In the first place, it took two burly policemen to haul her bodily into juvenile court, the judge held a brief hearing, and then communicated with the Washington Board of Public Welfare. That agency refused to assume custody of the girl.

Next the House of Good Shepherd declined to accept her. The girl was taken to a New Orleans diagnostic center, where she raised further pandemonium.

Another transfer was made, to the mental case section. There the child promptly broke a superintendent's eye glasses, hit a policeman with a glass of water, and tried to choke another girl inmate.

An unhappy policeman, who has been trying to control her, discounted the "wildcat" description. He signed:

"We'd have had an easier time with a wildcat."

Identity Error In Store Holdup

Inability of a holdup victim to identify his alleged assailant in municipal court today caused Judge Barron to postpone hearing on an armed robbery charge against William Bonfiglio, 35, Maverick st., East Boston, electrician, until May 9 for further investigation.

The victim, Samuel Simon, employee of a Tremont st., South End, liquor store, testified he had picked Bonfiglio from a police headquarters lineup last Saturday as the holdup man but now felt he had picked the wrong man.

"I thought about it all through the weekend," he said. "It bothered me and I couldn't eat. Then I recalled the holdup man was light complexioned and that this man is not so I feel I picked the wrong man."

When Atty. Edward Viola, counsel for Bonfiglio, said he was ready to rest his case, Judge Barron said she felt there was probable cause. She released Bonfiglio in the same $10,000 bail he had furnished previously.

Boy's Baseball Death Probed

Cambridge police today are investigating the sudden death in Kenmore Hospital of Clifford Ward Bergin, 13, newsboy son of Mrs. Anne M. Bergin, 65 Dana st., who was struck in the temple by a baseball during a game being played in the playground behind Cambridge High and Latin School, Cambridge st.

According to members of the family, the boy was struck while he was either watching or participating in the game. The incident occurred about 5 p. m. yesterday.

Clifford was knocked out by the force of the blow but was revived and rode home on his bicycle.

A doctor was summoned and diagnosed Clifford's injury as a slight concussion.

When the boy complained of feeling worse a short time later, the doctor ordered him sent to the Kenmore Hospital where he died at 1:30 a. m.

He was a student at the Longfellow Junior High School.

Plea for Mercy In Attack Fails, Gets 6 Years

Despite his impassioned plea for mercy, Bartley J. McDonough, 51, Dorset st., Dorchester, was sentenced to six to eight years in State Prison by Judge Donnelly on a charge of attempted criminal assault on 20-year-old Helen Curlanis, Dorchester ace., South Boston.

A Suffolk Superior Court jury had returned a sealed verdict Wednesday, finding McDonough guilty after eight hours of deliberation.

Seated in the courtroom today were the Curlanis girl's mother, Mrs. Mary Curlanis, and Mrs. Edna Walkowicz, Thorndike st., Cambridge, whom the defendant at the time of his arrest last November had planned to wed.

Obtaining permission to address the court, McDonough renewed the defense contention he was the victim of a "frameup."

"About two years I was released from prison, entered business and made a success of myself," McDonough declared. "I wish the court would investigate this Curlanis woman. She lied in this trial."

"The records will show that I often visited her home. She says

MRS. EDNA WALKOWICZ
Defendant Planned to Wed Her
INP by Harry Rinnard

she had nothing to do with me, but I refused to marry her and that's why she came into court and lied about me and her daughter and crucified this good woman who had faith in me and showed me what a good life was.

"I'm 51 and I'm getting old. I tried to lead a good life after I got out of prison. I did my best but I have been found guilty. Be merciful to me."

Judge Donnelly then imposed the 6-to-8-year term.

R. R. Strike Delay Deemed Unlikely

CLEVELAND, April 26 (AP)—Except for the possibility of further government action—for which there were wartime precedents—there appeared today little chance to head off a nationwide walkout of nearly 300,000 trainmen and engineers on May 18, halting rail traffic all over the country.

Originally scheduled to begin March 11, the strike was rescheduled yesterday as the two brotherhoods turned down the report of a Presidential fact-finding board.

It could be forestalled if the nation's carriers made concessions in conferences which are to open in Chicago Monday. But labor observers here, pending word on the carriers' attitude toward the fact-finding report itself, doubted that this development was likely.

Further government action could take two courses, seizure and operation of the roads by federal authority, or a resumption of fact-finding efforts, through appointment of a new board or reconvening the old.

It was recalled that in December, 1943, and January, 1944, when all the rail unions scheduled strikes and rejected fact-finding reports, the War Department took over the roads by presidential order.

President Roosevelt as sole arbiter settled the case of the trainmen and engineers. The engagement and firemen, the conductors and the switchmen declined to accept a similar settlement, but finally cancelled their strike call and signed an agreement with the carriers.

A. F. Whitney, president of the trainmen, said "if the government calls us to Washington, we'll go, but the strike order won't be called off until a satisfactory settlement is reached."

Last night the three other operating brotherhoods announced they would join a move by the 15 non-operating unions to reopen their own case, for wage increases higher than the 16 cents an hour boost awarded them by arbitration boards April 3.

Sabbath to Ask Packers' Probe

WASHINGTON, April 26 (INS)—Rep. Sabath (D.) of Illinois today charged the nation's large meat packing companies with "deliberately" creating the meat shortage and announced he would ask for an investigation.

Sabath accused the packers of conducting a sitdown strike against the government and the public.

The Congressman made public the text of a resolution which he plans to introduce when the House reconvenes Tuesday. It provides for an investigation by the House banking and currency committee.

Oratory Winners Prepare for Finals

INP by Don Robinson

By BERT FORD

Facing the supreme oratory hazard in the 1946 Hearst Newspapers' National Oratorical Contest: "Andrew Jackson, Seventh President of the United States," the Boston and

New York winners who triumphed in the crucial test of the Eastern Zone finals were preparing today for the national finals, to be held Thursday night in Boston Latin School.

The winners are Anthony J. Bivona, 17, of La Salle Academy, New York, representing the high school group, and William A. Burke, 26, of Mohan st., Everett, representing Sateley College of the Spoken Word, a veteran of World War II.

These eastern champions, on the night of the national finals, will meet the midwestern and Pacific Coast winners in an oratorical fight to the finish for prizes of $1000 in Victory Bonds, and a trip, with all expenses paid, from Boston to New Orleans with stopovers in the cities and towns where Andrew Jackson fought for American freedom as a great general, and consolidated it as a great President.

Winners from the midwest zone are William G. Ehler, 18, representing De La Salle High School of Chicago, and Joseph Schwartz, 21, of Milwaukee, a senior at Marquette University.

Winners from the Pacific coast zone are Robert Finch, an ex-marine from Occidental College, Seattle, a recent bridegroom now completing a law course under the GI Bill of Rights, and Leonard Grassi of Marshall High School in Hollywood. Young Grassi is 18 and aspires to be an artist like his father, a noted Hollywood illustrator.

The eastern zone contestants, winners and losers, joined yesterday in comradely sportsmanship for a sight-seeing tour of the South Shore, climaxed by a visit to Plymouth. They were entertained at a luncheon at the Toll House in Whitman, and later left for their homes from the Copley-Plaza Hotel, headquarters of the contest.

ALGIERS BANKS TO STATE

PARIS, April 26 (AP)—Nationalization of the Bank of Algiers and two other colonial banks was voted today by the constituent assembly, 451 to 60.

In Brookline?

In view of the shortages of one kind or another, Brookline police weren't too surprised today when they learned that they had helped themselves to a wheel and tire of a cement mixer at the rear of the home of Mrs. Ida Darrish, Beacon st. But they were puzzled how did the thieves lift the mixer, much too heavy for an ordinary-size jack, and remove the huge wheel.

76 P.C. of GIs Fraternize With German Girls

GARMISH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, April 26 (AP)—An American Army chaplain reported today 76 per cent of the GIs he had questioned at this recreation center said they fraternized with German girls.

Chaplain Anders S. Lunde said the soldiers told him they fraternized because "there just aren't enough American girls." Other reasons they offered, he said, were that they wanted to "learn the German language" and "to tell the Germans about America and democracy."

Of the soldiers who said they fraternized, 41 per cent declared they believed the Germans were guilty of war atrocities, Lunde added.

He reported those who said they did not associate with German women said either that the Germans could not be trusted or that "you may get stuck with some fraulein and have to take her home with you."

Thirty-five per cent of the soldiers questioned said Germany was "their favorite country" in Europe because it was "clean" and the people are "ambitious, industrious and honest." Sixty-three per cent said they thought the Germans could be educated to take their place in a democratic world government.

Fifty-one per cent, Lunde said, declared they did not understand the part they, as American troops, were playing in the Allied occupation policy.

3 Japs Sentenced To Die in Peiping

PEIPING, April 26 (AP)—Three Japanese war criminals today were sentenced to death by the 11th war zone military tribunal.

They are Sub. Lt. Takasida, a former gendarme squad leader, convicted of killing 18 Chinese, including two allegedly "just to try the sharpness of his new sword"; Tetsumo Takabashi, former telegraph official, convicted of killing 20 persons, and Sgt. Maj. Kurozawa, convicted of two murders and a rape.

Nazi Was U. S. Agent During War

NUERNBERG, April 26 (AP)—Hans Bernd Gisevius, a mystery defense witness who proved a boomerang on the stand, testified today he had "been in contact during the war" with the American intelligence service.

Many among the 22 German leaders on trial on war crimes charges appeared shocked, as if understanding at last why his testimony had been among the most damaging offered against them.

Outside the courtroom, a U. S. informant said Gisevius had been in the service of the U. S. Office of Strategic Services in Switzerland and Germany since 1943.

Dr. Alfred Seidl, counsel for Hesse and Hans Frank, once German governor of Poland, asked Gisevius the surprise question:

"During the war, were you ever active in the intelligence service of a foreign power?"

The witness said "no" to this, but added that "I was in the service of a good, clean German power."

"You know what the letters O. S. S. mean?" Seidl asked.

Gisevius said he did. Asked if he had been "connected with the Office of Strategic Services," he answered:

"During the war, I was in friendly and political contact with members of this organization."

A member of the American prosecution staff said later that during the last two years of war Gisevius was one of the American intelligence service's most valuable men on the Continent.

The Americans got in contact with him after he had been placed by Adm. Walter Wilhelm Canaris in an intelligence position in the German consulate in Zurich. After the Hitler bomb attempt, Gisevius was stripped of his Civil Service job, but the Swiss allowed him to remain in their country.

During his years in Switzerland, Gisevius made frequent trips to Berlin and other parts of Germany to deal with other plotters, he has related previously.

Malcolm Nichols Heads Prison Group

Malcolm S. Nichols, of Winchester, general secretary of the Family Society of Boston, has been elected president of the United Prison Ass'n of Massachusetts, it was announced today by the directors of the association.

Nichols succeeds Rev. Cornelius P. Trowbridge of Chestnut Hill, who leaves next month to assume his duties as rector of St. Peter's Church, Morristown, N. J. The new president has been active for many years with groups interested in preventing crime and rehabilitating released prison inmates. He is vice-president of the Massachusetts Society for Mental Hygiene, chairman of the Social Work Action Committee and an instructor at the Boston College School of Social Studies.

Big 4 Food Clash In Japan Likely

TOKYO, April 26 (AP)—A British request for information on the Allied food policy in Japan developed today a strong possibility of another clash between the Allied four-power council and Gen. MacArthur.

The British request stood out sharply in the light of the Far Eastern Commission's recommendation that the U. S. send only enough food to Japan to "safeguard the Allied occupation forces." MacArthur's headquarters replied that Japan cannot raise enough food in 1946 to meet its minimum needs.

Find Wife of Hub Chinese on Coast

A six months' search for Mrs. Wong Mee Ying Chin and her daughter, Regina, 6, ended today with news she had been picked up by San Francisco police.

Mrs. Chin vanished from her Hudson st., Chinatown, home with Regina last October and has been sought ever since by her husband, Suey Chin, a Boston merchant.

San Francisco police said the mother refused to come back to Boston. A native of China, she never has learned to speak English, although her youngster, who attended a public school here, does.

Would Equip Trains With Automatic Stops

As a result of the Readville train wreck, in which two persons died and scores more were hurt, Rep. Michael J. Justice Demanded For Wounded Vets

By DAN MARKEL

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, April 26—National Commander Harold H. Hamilton of the Military Order of the Purple Heart called for justice to wounded and disabled veterans whose compensation is chopped to $20 per month—68 cents a day—while in veterans' hospitals.

Purple Heart veterans without dependents, who by their blood and sacrifice have earned the nation's oldest military award, are invariably penalized whenever they go to their government for hospital treatment or care, Com. Hamilton protested.

"These men who bear wounds inflicted by the enemy, and who in the majority of cases will carry them to their graves, actually are required, in effect, to pay out to the government they fought to preserve for every day of hospitalization they receive," he said. "And unbelievable as it may seem the Purple Heart veteran with the gravest wounds is required to pay the most."

"Twenty dollars monthly is the maximum that a Purple Heart veteran without dependents may receive while hospitalized, although he may be 100 per cent permanently disabled."

"Outside a hospital, uncared for and unattended, he is entitled under law to $115 per month, with additional specified amounts for blindness and amputation."

"Hospitalized, his compensation is slashed to a miserly $20. So in reality this totally disabled battle-wounded man pays $95 or more per month to the nation he helped save for such medical attention as it may give him."

Veterans with lesser degrees of disability pay less for their government hospitalization, but they still must pay, the Purple Heart commander pointed out.

A veteran with 50 per cent service-connected disability is entitled to $57.50 per month when not hospitalized. Reduced to $20 while in a federal hospital he therefore in reality pays $37.50 monthly for treatment there.

"When hearings are held on any of the pending bills to eradicate the present injustices to these men, the military order of the Purple Heart, comprised exclusively of American veterans wounded on the battlefields of the world, will champion such measures before Congressional committees in both Houses of Congress."

Austrian Town Begs U. S. Unit to Stay

VIENNA, April 26 (AP)—Capt. Charles Robertson of Mansfield, O., and his military government detachment at Wels, Austria, made such a deep impression upon the town that Burgemeister Hans Brunner petitioned they not be sent home. "The civilian population should not have to suffer by losing a military government detachment so instrumental in starting the community back on the road of recovery," said the burgemeister's letter to Gen. Mark W. Clark. However, Capt. Robertson and his men are being re-deployed homeward according to schedule.

Reds to Block Big 4 Talks On Austria

PARIS, April 26 (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers met again this afternoon to seek agreements on European peace treaties and reports that Russia would block any American effort to promote discussion of the Austrian situation.

An American informant confirmed that the Russians yesterday opposed placing Austria on the agenda. The Russians, however, raised no objection to discussion of French demands for detachment of the Ruhr and Rhineland from Germany.

Sec. Byrnes conferred with British Foreign Sec. Bevin more than an hour before today's meeting.

A source in conference circles said the Russians told the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France yesterday they realized the seriousness of the Austrian situation and felt it needed careful study and that they did not believe such a study could be completed in time for discussion at the present conference.

It was understood the general reparations question for European countries other than Germany would be taken up first on the agenda.

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.
"Junior!"

Both Bevin and Byrnes declined comment as they emerged from their conference in the American hotel to attend a luncheon given for the foreign ministers by French President Felix Gouin. The British foreign secretary was accompanied only by his private secretary during the session with Byrnes, who was accompanied by Benjamin V. Cohen, State Department counselor, and H. Freeman Matthews, chief of the State Department's European division.

Twenty minutes before the conference ended, Jefferson Caffery, U. S. ambassador to France, was called in.

Russia's decision to allow France to participate in discussions in Balkan treaties created a fresh atmosphere of optimism as the four foreign ministers buckled down to their task.

Arlington Fire Routs Invalid

A woman convalescing after release from a hospital two days ago was among nine persons driven out into the rain early today when fire swept the second floor and attic of a one-family house on Vener rd., Arlington.

The convalescent was Mrs. John Murphy, 34, of Huron rd., Cambridge, who has been staying with her mother, Mrs. Margaret Lynch, 73, owner of the house.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Lynch after she was awakened by smoke. She aroused other members of the family, including her grandsons, Paul Murphy, 6, and Kevin, 4; her sons, Daniel J. Lynch, 42, and Leo W., 32; a son-in-law, Walter E. McIntee, 53, and his children, Walter E., Jr., 22, and Frances, 26.

B.&M. Daylight Time Schedule Announced

New spring timetables of the Boston & Maine R. R. were released today, showing changes of from five to 50 minutes in the schedules of many suburban commuter trains. The new schedules become effective Sunday with the advent of daylight saving time and are now available at all ticket offices.

The timetables list a new late evening express between Boston, Lowell, Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H.; extra trains between Boston and Wilmington in both directions, and a change of an hour in both the east-bound and west-bound schedules of the "Minute Man" between Boston and Chicago.

Jitterbug Hazard

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26 (AP)—To the California Supreme Court jitterbugging may become hazardous business once the "buggie" is launched into a "spin."

It denied a rehearing of an appeal by the Hollywood cartoon from a $5000 award to Florida Edwards, a volunteer hostess who said she was hurt while dancing with a marine in 1942.

The court found there was testimony "to the effect that in dancing the jitterbug the girl cannot escape from a spin into which she has been launched without landing on her ear."

Hint Sec. Patterson To Succeed Stone

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—A quiet boom for the appointment of War Sec. Robert P. Patterson as Chief Justice is under way on Capitol Hill today with some Democratic and Republican support.

But reporters accompanying President Truman on his vacation cruise—interrupted yesterday to permit the Chief Executive to attend funeral services for Harlan F. Stone—said they had been told by White House aides that the President thus far has given no consideration to a successor. Most speculation has centered around the idea that Mr. Truman might elevate a sitting justice to the post Stone held and designate a Republican to the vacancy thus created. Justices Robert H. Jackson, Stanley F. Reed, William O. Douglas and Hugo L. Black all have been mentioned in this connection.

Sen. Taft (R.) of Ohio noted, however, that if Mr. Truman follows this procedure it will be the exception, rather than the rule.

Taft said his father, while President, first broke the precedent by elevating Edgar D. White, a Louisiana Democrat, from associate to chief justice. President Roosevelt followed suit 31 years later by appointing Stone, a Republican.

No other Chief Justice was a member of the court at the time of his appointment.

Taft told a reporter he thought Patterson would be acceptable to Senate Republicans, should Mr. Truman decide to name him.

An Administration supporter said it is his understanding that Patterson, a Republican and a former Circuit Court of Appeals judge, had been offered a place on the high court before Justice Harold H. Burton was named from the Senate.

Because he lacked an experienced man to take Patterson's place in the cabinet, however, the President was reported to have reconsidered with an explanation why he was doing so. There was speculation that he might now reopen discussions with Patterson.

Capitol Hill friends of the President said they consider the pending appointment one of the most difficult Mr. Truman may have to make.

Boston Too Cold, Hoboes Pick Miami

LOS ANGELES, April 26 (AP)—Hoboes of America, Inc., concluded their annual convention with the announcement that Miami, Fla., was chosen next year's meeting place "because Boston and Toronto are too cold in April."

"Why, Bud, it was even too cold in Buffalo in June last year," Jeff Davis, king of the hoboes, told a reporter last night.

Red-Bossed Union Merger U. S. Peril

By DAVID SENTNER

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau
 WASHINGTON, April 26—Communist infiltration of the American machinery of government was seen today as gaining momentum as the result of the merger of two Red-dominated unions representing federal, state and municipal employees.

Rev. John F. Cronin, official of the National Catholic Welfare Council, recently estimated there were already 2000 active Communists holding federal jobs in Washington.

The new union of government employees formed by the merger of the CIO United Federal Workers and the CIO State, County and Municipal Workers brazenly uncoiled the current Communist party "line" at its merged convention in Atlantic City.

After singing "Solidarity Forever," Communist songbook stand-by, the convention, among other follow-the-Moscow-line resolutions adopted, demanded that President Truman halt the attempt to isolate the Soviet Union and other "imperialist" policies.

The sharing of the atom bomb secret and withdrawal of American troops from abroad were also called for.

Sen. Russell (D.) of Georgia asserted it was "an amazing spectacle" to see federal employees banded together "in a union which does not attack the government on any ground of compensation or working conditions but adopts the Communist Daily Worker's party line in denouncing our government as being imperialistic in our dealings with the rest of the world."

Equally disturbing to congressional leaders is a clause in the proposed constitution of the new union which outlines the procedure to be followed in the event of strikes.

Federal employees are forbidden to strike under the law.

Abram Flaxner, head of the SCMWA, is scheduled to be president of the new union, with Eleanor Nelson, president of UFWA, secretary-treasurer.

Flaxner is cited 30 times in the subversive files of the House Committee on Un-American activities for his affiliations with old-line Communist Front groups.

Eleanor Nelson is listed seven times in the files of the committee, along with a record of the generous treatment given her activities by the official Communist press.

Court Martialled Navy Man Cited

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—Capt. Charles B. McVay, 3d, who was reprimanded following a court-martial on charges connected with the torpedoing of the cruiser Indianapolis, has been decorated for "heroic service" at Okinawa.

The Potomac River Command, to which he has been attached in recent months, announced the award of the Bronze Star medal for operations against the enemy between March 21 and April 7, 1945, while commander of a "United States cruiser" (the Indianapolis).

The citation said: "With determination and courage in combat, he proved to be an inspiration to his crew and contributed materially to the success of the assault operation. His conduct throughout distinguished him among those performing duties of the same character."

Curleys Plant 2 Linden Trees

Mayor and Mrs. Curley today participated in Arbor Day exercises and aided in the planting of two linden trees on Boston Common near the Brewer Fountain.

The trees were two of five purchased by the city from an Abington nursery which had imported them from Holland before the war.

During the ceremony the Mayor remarked to Park Commr. William P. Long that he always recalled Arbor Day being celebrated on a Saturday.

The commissioner informed Curley that the Governor has the power to set the date. The mayor let the matter rest.

History Repeats For Two Jurors

BROCKTON, April 26 — Juror Henry M. Parker, 71, of Lakeville, today looked for the sixteenth time at Juror Ernest N. Godbout, 64, of Whitman, who has been sitting beside him in the jury box at a civil session of the Plymouth Superior Court for the past two days.

Finally Parker asked: "Didn't you do jury duty in the criminal session back in 1916?"

Godbout admitted he had and immediately recalled that he and Parker had sat side by side there 30 years ago.

Mother Earth Let This Auto Down

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 26 (AP)—Park ing-lot attendants' eyes bulged as they watched a car sink into the earth. The front bumper caught on the side of a huge cavern which had opened under the car just in time to prevent the vehicle falling all the way in.

Investigators disclosed that water seeping from a broken line had washed away an earth fill of what once had been the basement of a building on the site.

Eisenhower Visits Truman on Yacht

QUANTICO, Va., April 26 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower went aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg today for a conference with President Truman on problems in the Pacific.

Eisenhower is leaving Saturday for a month-long inspection of Army installations in the Pacific. Presidential Press Sec. Charles G. Ross said the Williamsburg would remain anchored here today and tonight. The President will resume his cruise tomorrow.

Steel Industry Now Faces Shutdown

CLEVELAND, April 26 (INS)—Shut down of the nation's steel industry and production stoppages in the automobile and Allied industries by June 1 were predicted today if the soft coal strike still is in effect.

The magazine steel, in a statement to International News Service, said a nearly-complete shut down of the steel industry was predicated on the progressive depletion and ultimate exhaustion of coal stocks by June 1.

Bismarck Aped in Health Bill

By KENT TAYLOR

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, April 26—Mystery as to the background of the verbal battle in the Senate committee on education and labor, when Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio called the Wagner-Murray National Health Act "Socialistic" and Senator James E. Murray threatened to call a cop and have the Ohioan ejected, is now cleared away.

Sen. Taft had just completed reading a digest of the Murray-Wagner bill and its background, and a research report to substantiate the digest. Both were voluminous. But summarized, here are the points brought to his mind, which led Taft to his "socialistic" declaration:

1—Public health medicine benefits started, not in any "liberal" government, but in Germany, in 1883, under the regime of Bismarck, the "iron chancellor." The German junkers and aristocracy were tired of supporting the poor by charity contributions and evolved public health "insurance" as a method of making the poor pay their own sickness costs. Under the Bismarck plan such of "the poor" as made contributions to a "sickness insurance" fund, received benefits. Others did not.

2—In 1911, in England, Premier

Lloyd George copied the German plan to some extent, but called it "health insurance," and planned to cover 40 per cent of the population in the poorer wage brackets, but with no benefits for their dependents.

3—The present socialistic government of the British Labor party is the British political group which has sought, for the first time in England, to cover all the population, all the hospitals.

Harvard Savant Hits Birth Curb

GREENFIELD, April 26—Following a warning from Prof. Carl C. Zimmerman of Harvard that American civilization by practicing birth control faces the same fate as the once powerful Roman and Greek civilizations, the New England regional conference of the Child Welfare League began its final day of sessions today.

Prof. Zimmerman said that divorces and childless marriages among the middle class and prosperous Americans are destroying the family system in America as they did in the two ancient nations.

SENATE BACKS GARAGE

THE MASSACHUSETTS Senate has passed legislation for the urgently needed garage under Boston Common. Senator Robert Lee, who has a splendid record for public service on Beacon Hill, urged suspension of the rules, and the bill was promptly approved without opposition.

Similarly favorable action is expected in the House of Representatives, which has distinguished itself this year for its consistent desire to give the people the projects they wish.

The garage is the key to the solution of the Boston traffic problem, which almost every authority has termed "the worst in the country."

The garage will add tremendously in clearing the blocked streets of the metropolis; in ending the ruinous decentralization of business and industry, and in making the airport and seaport accessible to the other cities and towns of the Commonwealth.

AND THIS IMPORTANT PUBLIC IMPROVEMENT WILL BE BUILT BY PRIVATE ENTERPRISE WITHOUT ANY COST TO THE TAXPAYERS.

We venture to predict that the garage under the Common will be long considered one of the greatest accomplishments of the present Legislature and that every member who votes for it will always have the satisfaction of knowing that he created jobs and prosperity for all the people and especially for the returning war veterans.

Every Senator and Representative who supports the garage and makes its construction possible, earns and deserves the people's confidence and gratitude.

HOPEFUL BRITAIN

The following editorial, reflecting British confidence in the future, is reprinted from the London Daily Express of April 9:

BUSINESS CONFIDENCE in this country is rising. It is not inspired by Government propaganda, nor for that matter by the Government's deeds, which have so far tended to depress rather than raise hopes. But it grows daily out of the facts as they become evident to the merchants and exporters now being let loose on the outside world—facts about markets, facts about competition.

HOME FROM U. S.

For instance, one of the people who express confidence is Mr. Dowty—George Herbert Dowty, of Dowty Equipment, concerned with retractable under-carriages.

Mr. Dowty started off in 1930 with an idea in a small room above a garage. Discouraged at home, his first useful order came from the Japanese. But by 1939 everyone wanted his equipment, and during the war the government contracts with his company totalled £40,000,000.

BRITAIN'S PULL

His verdict is: "If we make the most of our chances we shall be on top of the world again in no time."

He has seen a lot of the mighty American industrial machine, and he has the liveliest respect for it. But these are his conclusions.

1—America is concentrating on her home market. Export demand comes second with her manufacturers. The foreign buyer gets a warmer welcome in Britain.

2—Immune from bombing, America threw her resources into vast wartime plants on new sites, capable of dealing with vast orders, but less suitably equipped, with their enormous overheads, for dealing with small peacetime orders at competitive prices.

Britain's industrial resources under bombing were dispersed. Trades swiftly converted to war uses are swiftly converted back.

ONE GOOD BOOST

So, Mr. Dowty concludes, Britain can go ahead in confidence, selling the goods abroad as fast as she can make them.

A grand and glorious feeling. Great energies released, great markets wide open, in a world starved of goods and eager for services, not next year or three years hence, BUT NOW.

PLEASE NOTE: A blonde has approximately 150,000 hairs in her head, a brunette 110,000 and a red-haired woman only 20,000. Such is the claim of a hair expert. I am inclined to dispute this claim. In fact, it seems a little ridiculous to me. If you have a red-haired wife, would you mind counting the hairs on her head tonight so we can have the correct figures for our Horses & Women files.

PASSING BY: Somerset Maugham. Literary lion. In about 50 years he has written 21 novels, 24 plays and 90 short stories. His best novel is "Of Human Bondage," his best play, "The Circle," his best short story, "Miss Thompson." That is, in my opinion. ... Mrs. Ray Milland. Charming mate of the brilliant star of "The Lost Weekend." Mrs. Milland was born on New Year's eve. So she gets her Christmas and birthday presents within seven days.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—You say "there were Caesars before Julius." Your ignorance of Roman history amazes me. Please be informed Julius was the first of the Caesars. A—How about Sextus

Julius Caesar . . . Q—You once claimed left-handed people were more temperamental than right-handed. President Truman is left-handed. He appears to be anything but temperamental. A—I don't recall making the statement you mention. Anyway, the claim that Truman is a southerner is open to question. He pitches horseshoes with his left hand, throws a baseball both with right and left hand, and writes with his right hand. He is apparently ambidextrous.

SIDELIGHTS: Brian Donlevy is adequate as Trampas in the most recent film version of "The Virginian." However, it seems Brian didn't get all he should have out of this great part. When Frank Campeau played it in the original stage version, he stole the show from Dustin Farnum, the star. . . It was Andrew G. Wheeler who said: "It is better to have one woman who believes you are the greatest man in the world and who presents you with a boy who agrees with her than to be the greatest man in the world."

SAY THEY: A letter signed by four young women of San Francisco is as follows: "The woman who says she can apply lipstick so it positively will not smear is fabricating. Her statement that when a man notes a woman leaves a lipstick smear on a glass, a cigarette butt or his face he should judge her to be sloppy is ridiculous. We hope no men will be so simple as to believe that. No matter how carefully lipstick is applied and blotted it will still come off or smear. To our knowledge, there is no lipstick manufactured, as yet, that is completely indelible."

FIFTEEN EX-WIVES: An Iowa subscriber writes: "James F. Williams, 61, of Cedar Rapids has been married 15 times and divorced 15 times. One marriage ended in annulment. Imagine a man having 15 ex-wives, Cal California, even with Hollywood in its midst, top that?"

BRIEFLY: Regarding the use of beer as a hair tonic, a mail-fornian, who says she is 45 years old, states this is an old-fashioned idea. She says her mother recommended it to her years ago. . . "Please name some successful contemporary women born under the sign of Aries (March 22–April 20)," writes a Chicagoan. Clare Booth Luce, Mary Pickford and Bette Davis are Aries-born.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1946, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE RECORDS of the New York courts, State and Federal, reveal that Benjamin Pross, who runs a whole group of A. F. of L. unions under a 'sheaf of charters, and four relatives and in-laws have figured in five bankruptcy cases since 1925.

Westbrook Pegler

Benjamin himself was twice convicted of fraud in such proceedings and served two prison terms and there were allegations of fraud in others.

Ben Pross, who testified in one hearing that he was born in Russia in 1900 and came to the United States when he was 12 years old, also pleaded guilty to violation of the anti-trust law in 1939 and was fined $100, but was acquitted of a black market indictment, charging illegal traffic in liquor, early this year.

Reuben Pross, also known as Rubin, Robert and Richard Pross, has gone bankrupt twice and has given his occupation as "union delegate." He identified himself with two unions dominated by his brother, Ben, the Upholsterers' and the Retail Bakery Clerks'. The address of the Upholsterers Union is 1860 Broadway, identical with that of Ben Pross' Wine, Liquor and Distillery Workers' Union.

WHEN REUBEN and his wife, Lee Pross, also known as Lee Adler, went bankrupt in May, 1944, the telephone at their home address was found to be listed in the name of Joseph Adler, whose business address on the records of the telephone company was the Epee Trading Co.

The Epee Trading Co.'s phone number was given as Circle 6-0620, which was also the number of the Wholesale Wine Salesman's Union.

The address of the Wholesale Wine Salesman's Union also is 1860 Broadway, again Ben Pross' address.

The trading style "Epee Trading Co." was registered in June, 1943, by Joseph Adler, Herbert Pross, and others. The registered address was 145 West 72d st.

An investigator who called there was told that someone had rented desk space in the name of this company. The investigator was told that "some girl" had called several times for mail.

IN HIS LATEST bankruptcy, Reuben, Rubin, Robert and/or Richard Pross, scheduled Herbert Pross as a creditor to the amount of $1500. The assets listed by him and his wife, Lee Adler Pross, $1000 each, consisted of exempt household furniture. Their total liabilities were $19,496.

Under examination by the referee in bankruptcy, Reuben Pross said he had never been bankrupt before. This statement is at odds with the records of the bankruptcy of the Star Stationery Company in 1937, of which company he was president, and Mrs. Rose Adler, his mother-in-law, was named as treasurer.

In this case, creditors charged fraudulent intent in the Star Company's submission to a default judgment for $911.50 and the sale of the company's property under execution for $1010 to satisfy the judgment.

Upholding the charges of the creditors, the court ordered that the $1010 be turned into the bankrupt estate.

WE FIND five bankruptcies, two fraud convictions against Ben Pross, the A. F. of L. union executive who issues high-sounding state papers in the union press of New York, and a tangled skein of connections attaching two of his brothers to unions in Ben's zone of operations.

In January, 1942, Ben Pross appealed to the Department of Justice for a Presidential writ to restore to him certain civil rights which had been suspended when he was sentenced to Atlanta.

His petition was denied, which means that he lacks certain civil rights, although under the morality of the A. F. of L. he is free to exercise despotic power over thousands of workers who never saw him and might be afraid to ask him for a membership meeting, a glimpse of their various constitutions or the employer contracts governing their economic life, to say nothing of an accounting of their money.

This man recently announced that he intended to organize an American Legion Post of his Wine, Liquor and Distillery Workers' union. Maurice Stember, the State adjutant of the Legion, being advised of Pross' record, said the Legion probably would turn down any request from him for a charter.

Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, April 26—William Goetz pulls in a prize for his International Pictures in getting Garson Kanin and his playwright wife, Ruth Gordon, to write an original for the screen, "The Art of Murder."

Miss Gordon, you know, not only wrote but starred in "Over 21" in the same role Irene Dunne later played in the movie. Kanin is just out of the Army after three years of making documentary films for the government.

Right now the Kanins are at the Racquet Club in Palm Springs, working on the story and also to be near his father, David Kanin, who is in a hospital seriously ill. They have promised Goetz that the comedy melodrama will be ready not later than June.

ARTHUR CAESAR is back from New Mexico with a whale of a Western up his sleeve. Ten years ago he went to New Mexico at the request of the Governor to write an original story about the State, to be produced by the State. At that time he uncovered material about a boy who was Billy the Kid's adopted son—or perhaps his real one. Anyway, this boy grew up on the side of law and order, joined Teddy Roosevelt's Rough Riders, and later became the sheriff of Socorro County. The story played around in Arthur's mind for a long time, but he did not write it until his recent trip. It's called "Billy the Kid's Kid," a bonfire tie-up of any theater marquee.

WILLIAM SPIER, the radio director-producer, who will make four films under his own production set-up, has signed

Robert Young to star in the first, "Destiny." The role of a young man plotting the murder of an older woman is something entirely different for Bob, usually a much better mannered hero. But Spier has a flair for casting against "type." On one of his radio shows he even made a heavy of Frank Sinatra. He also produced the sensational Agnes Moorhead skit about the woman who picks up the telephone and hears her own murder being plotted.

"MARDI GRAS OF STARS" to be held at the Los Angeles Coliseum May 9 will be the biggest single show of top talent ever presented. The same actors who were always willing to appear for the servicemen during the war are not letting the "vets" down, for this show is to raise money for the Veterans' Housing Fund. Joe Pasternak and Kay Kyser are staging the whole thing in authentic Mardi Gras carnival style. Among the stars who will appear are Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Roy Rogers, Bette Davis, Jimmy Durante, Eddie Cantor, Esther Williams, Mickey Rooney—and that's just the start.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: In spite of his high rating on fan magazine polls, and believe me, I mean HIGH—Peter Lawford has just four scenes in "The Beginning or the End." M-G-M's atomic bomb special. He'll play a British scientist if that's any solace to the young Englishman. Not long ago said M-G-M was rapidly getting help to Lawford's big fan following and was going to do something about it with bigger and better roles. Well, they can start anytime. Speaking of this picture—there are 183 speaking parts—a record of some sort.

GEORGE BRENT seems to have settled down at Universal, although he has no contract there. He did a picture with

By Dorothy Manners
Substituting for Louella Parsons

Lucille Ball, then "Lover Come Back" with Merle Oberon, and he's staying put for "Flame of Tripoli," with Yvonne De Carlo. This is an original by Michael Fessier and Ernie Pagano, and will be made in Technicolor.

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: Lew Landers, the director, and Rolli Friedland, widow of Anatole Friedland, are being married in Las Vegas today; Pauline and Skeets Gallagher, two of the sweetest people who ever left Hollywood, are back, the house guests of Bebe Daniels at her beach home. Skeets, who has been a very sick man, is fine again, but he won't resume his acting career. Has something up his sleeve outside the screen or stage. Whatever he does—the town's brighter because Skeets and Pauline are home again; Ella Raines and Paul Fix a Seacomber duet; Joe Schenck is losing his attractive secretary, Claire Clegg. She's marrying Mal John Hugh Murphy, Aug. 3, in San Diego.

CATHERINE HUNTER wrote Louella a newsy little letter to the hospital telling her that Charlie Chaplin was tests of himself—the first in a long time—and that they are swell. Even without the derby, hat and cane, he's still funny on the screen; Viveca Lindfors' husband isn't remaining long in Hollywood. Having safely escorted her from their native Sweden to Warner Brothers, he returns to complete some legal cases over there, interrupted by their trip; Maurice Cohen, dean of the Palladium, is in New York to recruit Palladium pals (that's what they are calling the honeys in the chorus of "Hollywood Palladium" when it comes to the screen); Robert Stack flew in yesterday to usher at the wedding of his cousin, Lt. William Munroe, Jr., and Carlotta Chapman, daughter of Princess Conchita Pignatelli; Jack Oakie has a new flame—Vickie Horne, the Universal starlet.

Boston After Dark

CONFLICTING STORIES and characterizations are following in the wake of John F. "Jack" Letendre's slaying... Such mob-mysteries generally are characterized by a maze of misinformation... It is difficult to reconcile statements by Judge James E. Dooley of Narragansett Park, who knew Letendre well, with other "inside" stories of the slain man's habits as a bettor... The judge admitted that Letendre was a heavy bettor when the mood was on him, but declared that he had been waging "small"—$25 to $50 a race since "Gansett opened Saturday... Reporters came back with another story that was at great variance with what the judge believed to be true.

THEY TOLD of a $35,000 pool presumably raised by a syndicate of New England gamblers to wager on one horse Saturday... The story this column read of this pool was inaccurate in its use of gambling terminology... It said that Letendre failed "to lay the $35,000 bet"—intending the meaning that Letendre failed to place the bet.

To "lay" a bet means that an individual looked the bet, "layer" being gambling-ese for "book-maker," and "player" being the man who tries to beat the bookie... Hence, if Letendre had "failed to lay the bet," he actually would have "placed it" and the $350,000 alleged to have been due him and his high-rolling associates would have been collected... That money, according to the rumor the police reported to Letendre to wager on a horse which ran and won at the "Gansett opening-day program... One part of that theory did not ring quite true to gamblers... It seemed unlikely that a sum as large as $350,000 would have been given to a man like Letendre to bet through the mutual windows of a track in which he was known to hold a large block of stock.

FOR ONE THING, Letendre—in spite of his constant playing of the races—was a bellwether, more or less... He had a following and it was composed of characters on the fringe of the "wise-guy mob" who ferreted out his "play" (when possible)... In fact, "Jack Letendre bet five hundred on so-and-so" used to be a cue for a track-wide tip, and "information" like that was supposed to be valuable especially to the fraternity of turf-counselors—which is long for "tout".

FOR ANOTHER THING, a sum like $35,000 is enough to make a serious depression of the price a horse will pay even on a big day like Saturday, when nearly $1,500,000 was bet... It could cut the price of a favorite in half, and could make a medium-priced horse out of the longest shot on the board... For one man to pour $35,000 through the $100-window would be quite a stunt—and quite stupid, to boot... Of course a man with an account at the track could pay his cash and memorandum for that wager, and pick up his tickets later... But punching out 350 $100 tickets would tie up a window for many minutes, and word of such a bet would spread—you can be sure of that.

YET THE OLD-TIME PRACTICE of placing big bets "away from the track" is not as effective as it once was, and "smart money" is being pushed through the iron-men (mutual machines) in these days, instead of being bet with book-makers, with much more frequency than before... Several reasons for this are apparent... One is that the book-making chain of "big offices" in New York, Chicago, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, New Orleans and Houston sometimes decides to "go along" with what the big shots of the "big offices" believe to be "smart money"...

Hence if a player like Letendre tried personally to "make" a $35,000 wager in the half-hour or so before the race (that amount of time would be required as a minimum for the mechanics of the deal), he would probably be unsuccessful.

NOT ONLY his money, but a lot of "moss" gathered as it rolled around from one "big office" to another might bounce back through the comeback room with a disastrous effect on the elected horse's official price... As we hinted in Tuesday's column, the mourned "Big Jack" did win quite a sum Monday, seven or eight hours before he died... He bet a "saver" of $200 on a winning horse named "Golden Thorne" and that "sound investment" repaid him at the rate of $31.80 for each $2... (Which—in a less tragic sequence of events—would have been too bad, even for a high-roller).

WASHINGTON, April 26—Now that production of flour for domestic consumption has been cut 25 per cent so we can send 30 additional million bushels of wheat overseas, we will see many new dodges in cookery.

I saw the first symptom of this the other night at one of our leading hotels where the apple pie was minus a top crust. The little woman looked at it and observed:

"From now on we shall eat humble pie—no crust!"

I SOMETIMES wish the little woman would remember that I am supposed to be the comedian. The other night somebody mentioned that the Department of Commerce is putting out a lot of very instructive books on how to go about starting various businesses. The speaker said he had read one of the books, "How to Operate a Small Sawmill."

The little woman replied she had practically no ambitions to operate a small sawmill and asked if the Department of Commerce had anything more in her line.

"Well," said the fellow, "they have a very absorbing work entitled: 'Establishing and Operating a Men's Apparel Store.'"

"That's the one for me!" exclaimed the little woman. "I suppose it says: 'With No Foreword by Harry S. Truman.'"

I THOUGHT this was fairly significant. The War Department has made a tabulation and confides that out of an Army of 10,000,000 men less than 50,000 have voiced complaints—either by letter or by taking part in demonstrations—against the Army's so-called brass hat special privilege and caste system.

IF THE ARMY, as has been charged, is bent on propagandizing for unification, it is missing some wonderful propaganda opportunities.

In recent days it has had five conferences, with Senators, Representatives, newspaper editors and publishers, columnists and radio commentators. And, of course it did work in a word about unification.

JUST HAD a letter from my old golfing partner, His Excellency H. S. Malik, prime minister of Patiala, India. His letter, dated March 2, arrived a couple of days ago and reads:

"Just received your Christmas greetings. Many thanks—and the best to you for the year 1946 and a 100 years to come."

THE PRIME MINISTER, who talks with a broad Oxford accent, will never be a valued barber shop customer. He is a Sikh—and has never cut a hair on his head. Has his hair wrapped around inside his turban and wears his luxurious black beard in a hairnet.

MRS. HARRY S. TRUMAN took members of her Bridge Club up to the Capitol on a Saturday because the ladies confided they had never had a really good look at the place and wished an inside view.

There is hardly anything doing around the Capitol on Saturdays, however, and this day was no exception. In fact, hardly anything was open except the corridors.

Finally, the First Lady's chauffeur located Harry Nash, the chief tourist guide. Nash asked the ladies if there was anything particular they would like to see, and one said she would like to see the floor of the Senate.

Nash scurried around madly and at last got the key. He showed them where Mr. Truman used to sit when he was Senator from Missouri, the snuff boxes and the tradition-hallowed spittoons.

The ladies were quite impressed. At last one of them pointed to Mrs. Truman and said:

"Here unless she goes with us." "No," replied Mr. Nash. "And neither could I!"

Michael Ward's Condition Better

Stricken suddenly with pneumonia just before he was to act as toastmaster at a testimonial dinner at the Copley Plaza, Michael J. Ward, Boston school committee man, was improved today.

Ward became ill and upon examination by Dr. Martin J. Spellman was ordered to bed after it was discovered he was suffering from pneumonia. He was placed in a room at the hotel under the care of Dr. Spellman after they determined that he was too ill to be moved.

Ward was to have been toastmaster at the dinner to Maj. John J. Dugan, Army chaplain.

Food Crisis Hits Alaska Town

WRANGELL, Alaska, April 26 (AP)—Wrangell's 150 people are facing a food crisis with meat markets, stores and restaurants preparing to close Saturday because their stocks have been exhausted by lack of shipping the last 3 days.

The S. S. Tongass left Seattle last night with the first shipload of foodstuff to head north since the settlement of the longshoremen's strike which tied Alaska shipping a month ago. But Wrangell was not one of its ports of call. It was stopping at Petersburg 40 miles to the north.

Co-Ed Orator Whacks GI Joe

EVANSTON, Ill., April 27 (AP).

—A blonde Iowa co-ed, who vows she will never marry a GI "because they make poor husbands," defends that thesis in the finals of an oratorical contest tonight.

Helen Braden, 20-year-old Iowa Wesleyan College senior, last night won her way to the finals of the annual Interstate Oratorical Ass'n tournament at Northwestern University by pertly declaring:

"I want my prospective husband to be able to think for himself, rather than sit back and complain, hoping that the government will find the solution in the form of a bonus or a dole."

"In the heat of some raging hell he may have lived a century in a few seconds. These are the moments he must learn to forget, or at least to bury. He will know that the real heroes are buried on foreign soil or somewhere in the vast sea."

The Oskaloosa, Ia., orator then added that GI Joe is lazy, hateful, uncultured, ill-mannered and boastful of war exploits.

Miss Braden says she is not engaged.

UN Security Council Marks Anniversary

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council today officially observed the first anniversary of the meeting of the United Nations at San Francisco.

The council delayed consideration of the Spanish issue for a time to hear a message of congratulation from the Mayor of San Francisco, Roger Lapham, who requested that the Council designate June 26 as World Charter Day.

Newest, Biggest Tug Arrives in Harbor

The Diesel-powered tug Port Edwards, newest and largest of the towboats in Boston Harbor, was being readied today for commissioning as the 16th vessel in the fleet of the Boston Towboat Co.

Whistles and sirens of other harbor craft marked her arrival here from Staten Island, N. Y. The new tug is 100 feet long, is equipped with radio-telephone and possesses engines capable of developing 1050-horsepower.

Murder

sportsman—and comments were made.

Active bearers included employees at Letendre's Blackstone Hotel and two men that owed minor jobs at Narragansett to the man they bore.

No one, however, seemed to have failed to pay fiscal tribute. Hospitals throughout the area were well supplied by the profusion, for most all of them were distributed. "Daddy would do it that way," one of his daughters explained.

State Police entered the picture as soon as the last rites for the victim were concluded. Local officials had been conferring with the State authorities for the last two days but work of the State investigators had been kept in the background.

Just what angles State investigators are following has not yet been disclosed. Atty. Gen. Nolan said:

"We have certain suspicions." He added that he did not at this time contemplate questioning gamblers in connection with the murder.

Meanwhile, the probe has disclosed that bullets which ended Letendre's spectacular career were not standard .38 caliber but of a special police type, longer and heavier. They were flatnosed and had a devastating dum-dum effect.

Police Chief Edgar C. Turcotte said ballistic experts were readying a complete report on the bullets.

Another angle of the investigation which was disclosed today was the checking by officials of the return plane flight Letendre made from Florida two weeks before his murder.

Police learned that a week before he left Miami, Letendre's wife flew back here, and that in making his own return flight the following Saturday he made an overnight stop in New York city before completing his trip by train to Woonsocket on Sunday.

Inquiries at the hotel in New York where he stayed that afternoon and night have already revealed that more than 15 telephone calls were made from his room to persons outside the hotel, and officials are trying to learn with whom he talked and the purpose of the calls.

This angle of the probe is being pushed in an effort to prove reports that before leaving Miami, Letendre had been warned to "square up" with representatives of a Chicago gambling syndicate he had clashed with in Florida.

As the name of Narragansett Racing Ass'n, Inc., continued to be mentioned in connection with the murder, Judge James E. Dooley, president, announced Letendre, while a director of that organization, had been inactive recently.

"This murder is in no way connected with the park or its operation," Dooley said.

Nevertheless, the names of big figures at the track appeared in connection with a civil suit won by Letendre a week before his death and which the plaintiffs now seek to reopen on the claims of newly discovered evidence.

One of the suits was brought in behalf of the estate of the late Joseph E. Kelley of North Smithfield, R. I., a dye works owner and a leading figure in the development of the rival race track at Pascoag. Executors seek to collect $5200 which they alleged Letendre borrowed and never paid back.

When plaintiffs sought originally to attach Letendre's Narragansett holdings they wanted to get at particular "stock shares held by James E. Dooley for John F. Letendre." The formal reading in the attachment did not disclose why Dooley was mentioned as holding the stock.

In the garnishees' affidavit answering this, it was stated that Letendre had only 500 shares of Narragansett stock. Corporation had no legal owner.

Raymond J. McMahon, secretary and general counsel for Narragansett Racing Ass'n, was Letendre's lawyer in both the Kelley suit and another brought by the Fairmont Dye Works, which claimed $1500 on a loan.

Michael Regan, assistant treasurer of Narragansett, stated last July 10 that "the only personal estate of John Letendre at Nar-ragsanett Racing Ass'n is the sum of $705.14 and the said 500 shares." It was surmised that the $705.14 was salary.

Police are still holding on a charge of drunkenness a Franklin, Mass. man, whom they accuse of having perpetrated the hoax in which Mayor Dupre received a telephone call at his home from Valley Falls and the caller told him to stand by for the arrest of Letendre's slayer. Also of sending an anonymous letter to a Woonsocket newspaper, in which the writer professed having slain Letendre by mistake.

Also questioned for five hours and released was a widely-known ex-convict, who once was the central figure in a Bay State political row. The man, who has a long police record, was picked up at Narragansett race track. His identity was withheld and after the questioning he left police headquarters through a rear door.

OPA Backers Flood Congressional Mail

By KENT HUNTER

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, April 25—Over the United States 32,335 OPA payroll jobs cost the American taxpayers $8,377,547.54 a month. They went to keep those jobs, for this reason:

Of these, 28,500 jobs are scattered around the country, with fully half of the field jobs being held by young attorneys, young economists, young "chief investigators"—most of them early pre-war and war era college graduates who are now earning more on a government payroll than they ever earned in private life.

Proponents of OPA have held that mails of senators and congressmen have been flooded with OPA mail since the House voted overwhelmingly to drastically curtail the powers of Chester Bowles rampant bureaucracy.

Proponents of the OPA payroll brigade have contended that this mail is "20 to 1 in favor of OPA continuation without crippling amendments."

This is something the OPA proponents do NOT shout about:

Senators and congressmen have reduced mail analysis to a science.

Special clerks in their offices who seem to be special targets of the mail propagandists, put all incoming mail dealing with pending legislation in two classes—"propaganda" mail and "heart mail."

"Propaganda" mail includes mimeographed petitions with the same wording from different localities: printed on typewritten postcards, letters or telegrams, in which the same or nearly the same phraseology is used.

Five Senators and five Representatives, known to maintain mail analysis clerks, produced these figures on the OPA mail:

Of the "propaganda" mail, the ratio is more than 20 to 1 in favor of "continuation without crippling amendments."

Of the "heart" mail—individual letters, from home addresses, and from men or women known to the Senator or Congressman or his office organization—the mail shows better than 3 to 1 in favor of elimination of OPA entirely, or of limited continuation for a fixed time limit.

Brazilian Delegate

To UN Hurt in Crash

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP)—Dr. Pedro Leao Velloso, 59-year-old Brazilian delegate to the United Nations Security Council, was injured slightly when the taxicab in which he was riding collided with another.

He was taken to Bellevue Hospital but discharged after treatment for cuts and bruises of the face.

British Bride Fights Divorce

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 26 (AP)—Believed the first British bride to be sued by her American husband for divorce, Mrs. Bridget M. T. Waters, appeared for a court hearing today on a separate maintenance suit she filed in the hope of effecting a reconciliation.

The husband, Frank T. Waters, who married her in England in 1944 while an employee in an aircraft company in North Ireland and she a nurse in a British hospital, recently sued for divorce. He is a bank teller here.

"Neither of us has the right to say that the marriage is a mistake until we have tried to make it a success," Mrs. Waters declared. Waters commented only "the marriage was a mistake."

Gold Rush Ties Little LaGuardia

YELLOWKNIFE, N. W. T., April 26 (AP)—This mining town, a couple of hundred miles south of the Arctic Circle, is gripped by a modernized gold rush.

Hundreds of prospectors and tons of supplies are being flown into the surrounding bush country by 15 planes based on Yellowknife bay where air traffic is so heavy the bay has been nicknamed "Little LaGuardia."

Reports of rich strikes in the district have added to the gold fever here as the spring thaw nears.

Harvard May Buy Hotel for Students

A member of the Harvard University business office said today that the university is considering the purchase of the Hotel Brunswick, Kenmore sq., Boston, to use as living quarters for married students.

The hotel was used until recently as a military police barracks, but was turned back to owners several weeks ago.

Americans Told To Eat Less Bread

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—Americans were told bluntly today that they must eat less bread and feed less wheat to livestock if the nation is to meet its obligations to the starving abroad.

This notice was given by Agriculture Secretary Anderson in a statement describing the wheat situation as "very serious."

Isle de France Due To Dock in Hub

It's also a great stomachic tonic!

What a Pity!

RANDOLPH, April 26—Mrs. Olga Berquist of South Main st., today appealed to the local postmaster and rationing board to turn over to her the gift parcel of sugar, butter and bread, sent her by three sisters in Sweden, and which a postman had refused to deliver until she produced three sugar ration stamps. The three sisters had sent the gift after reading of "terrible food shortages in the United States." When Mrs. Berquist does obtain the three sugar stamps, officials fear only the sugar can be salvaged. The large parcel came by air mail.

Yank Officer's Jap Wife Dies Without Seeing U. S.

TOKYO, April 26 (AP)—The Japanese girl to whom the U. S. House of Representatives voted permission to enter the United States with her American husband—Lt. Col. Ray Cromley, former foreign correspondent—died today before her dream of reaching the States could come true.

In her last days Misao Sudo Cromley had at her bedside the husband who had returned to her after he and their 7-year-old son had been repatriated to the United States.

Mrs. Cromley died in the Army's 42nd General Hospital. Cause of death was not announced but doctors had sought specific blood donors for her until the final hours. She had shrunk from 130 to 85 pounds.

Cromley, pre-war Tokyo correspondent for the Wall Street Journal, is on terminal leave from the Army. He arrived in Tokyo April 11 and rushed immediately to his wife's home at a village near Matsue, in Shimane prefecture. It was their first meeting since a tearful parting at the Yokohama docks when the Japanese refused to permit her to accompany her husband and son.

Mrs. Cromley was a physician herself and after their departure practiced at Nunobe until she was taken ill two years ago.

Their son is at the home of his grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. William J. Cromley, at Long Beach, Cal.

Songbird Ends Dogbite Suits

DANBURY, Ct. (AP)—Two suits seeking $30,000 damages from Marian Anderson, noted Negro contralto, were settled out of court for $3,000 just before the case was scheduled to go on trial.

The settlement was announced by Miss Anderson's attorney, and by the attorney for Miss Shelley Brett of New York city and Danbury, and her three-year-old nephew, Walter Charles Brett, Jr. who had sued for $15,000 each. They claimed they had been bitten by three dogs as they walked past Miss Anderson's home here.

The singer was not in court.

Rep. Edith Rogers To Address Vets

Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers will address the Military Order of the Purple Heart at a meeting in the Hotel Lenox at 3 p. m., Sunday, open to all combat wounded veterans.

State Commander William Chippendale will preside at the meeting called to discuss pending veterans' legislation. The executive committee also will meet to make plans for the state convention to be held in Worcester in June.

Insult to Injury

KIRKLAND, Ill., April 26 (AP)—Housewives making the rounds of meatless butcher shops can see a maddening sight at the edge of the village.

Thousands of sheep and cattle are brought here to graze on 12,000 acres of pasture before continuing to slaughter centers.

Model Asks Divorce From Millionaire

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 26 (INS)—Charging extreme cruelty, former Hollywood studio model Lorena J. Greims, 36, filed suit for separate maintenance against millionaire James Gerard Greims, 40, naming the Beverly Hills National Bank and Trust Co. as co-defendant.

In her suit, the wife alleged her husband was in possession of assets and personal property worth in excess of $1,500,000 and that he had an income of more than $4500 per month.

Philippine Vote Steal Charged

MANILA, April 26 (AP)—Sergio Osmena's headquarters to-night virtually conceded his defeat for the Philippines presidency with a charge "the election is being stolen and apparently nothing can be done about it."

A highly placed source at Malacanang palace said: "Roxas supporters terrorized the voters in at least three provinces, Taya-bas, Batangas and Neuva Ecija," he said. "It seems clear now Roxas' charges there would be intimidation and vote falsification were only to cover up those very practices by his own supporters."

The Associated Press' tabulation of votes from 5322 of the commonwealth's 14,238 precincts gave Roxas 565,378, Osmena 474,998.

More Platinum, Silver Found in Toyko Bay

TOKYO, April 26 (AP)—Salvage crews tonight had recovered $165,000 worth of precious metals (200 bars of silver and one of platinum) from the cache in Toyko bay, where they were dumped last July.

Navy crews continued draining the area, cut off by a cofferdam between two docks.

Fashion

IT'S THE NEW Beau Brummel scarf . . . and it's all high fashion scarf trickery. Two Gientex taf-feta ascots . . . one checked, the other two-tone . . . are used to create this important dandy look. Tie the two-tone taf-feta at the back of the neck, bringing the ends around to the front. Pin the lower points, leaving the upper points to flare out into a high collar. The checked ascot is then tied in front with the ends looped over the knot into a crisp pouf—R. M.

Why Waste Time On Indifferent

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I am 22 years old and in love with a boy 24, but he isn't in love with me. He says he likes my company very much but doesn't want to go steady.

When we are out together, he always likes to kiss me. He asked me for two dates and quit. He always has to be asked to come again and he does. I can't quite make him out. He acts as if he was afraid of me, or afraid of falling in love with me.

Should I forget him or go on trying to win his love? I have tried so hard to forget him. We worked in the same place, and I even quit my job and went to work somewhere else, but he's still on my mind.

MIXED-UP. Why waste your time over a young man who is so indifferent that he has to be coaxed to come and see you? I doubt if the trouble is that he's afraid either of you or of falling in love with you. I think he's just plain uninterested, don't you—honestly now? And I wouldn't try to kid myself that it means a thing because he kisses you when you're out together. That's routine, you know, with many young men these days.

I think you'd be smart if you dropped him like a hot potato—or like the cold fish he seems to be—and started having good times with other young men. That's the way to get him out of your mind fastest.

Invited to Ceremony

But Not to Reception

1—My wedding is to be a church wedding. Is it proper to invite a person to the church ceremony and not to the reception?

2—If so, how could this be done without hurting their feelings? B. B.

1—Yes.
2—If formal, engraved invitations are to be sent, reception cards are enclosed with the invitations to the church; those not to be invited to the reception are sent only the invitation to the ceremony.

Milk Helps Extend Meat

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

MILK, WHICH IS OUR most nearly perfect food, is an ideal extender for small quantities of meat and fish. A smooth, creamy white sauce, made with milk, is an excellent foundation for many tasty escalloped or creamed dishes. And for variation, cheese may be added to the sauce.

Cubes, or ground leftover meat, or ready-to-eat meat, combined with vegetables and a medium white sauce make the perfect topping for a meat and vegetable shortcake. Make the biscuits into individual, or one large shortcake and serve with another vegetable, a crisp salad and dessert and you have a nourishing and satisfying meal. The recipe for ham shortcake may be varied to use the meat which is on hand and once served will be a favorite with the family.

HAM SHORTCAKE

1-3 lb. ground or cubed ham (2-3 cups)

3 tbsp. butter, margarine or dripping

1/2 cup flour 2 1/2 cups milk

1 1/2 cups cooked peas

1/4 tsp. prepared mustard

1/4 tsp. salt

1/2 tsp. celery salt

Brown ham slightly in melted fat. Stir in flour, add milk and cook over direct heat, stirring constantly until sauce boils and thickens. Add peas, mustard, salt and celery salt. Bake your favorite baking powder biscuits either in one large biscuit or several small ones. Serve hot sauce between and on top of split hot biscuits. Makes 6 servings.

CREAMED SHRIMP AND MUSHROOMS

1/2 cup butter or margarine

1 cup (1 1/2 lb.) sliced mushrooms

1/2 cup flour

1/2 tsp. salt

1/2 tsp. celery salt

1/2 tsp. pepper 2 1/2 cups milk

1 lb. (2 1/2 cups) cooked or canned shrimp

1/2 cup chopped parsley

1/2 cup chopped pimiento

1 egg yolk, well beaten

1 tsp. lemon juice

Melt butter, add mushrooms and green pepper, and saute 5 minutes. Stir in flour, salt, celery salt, and pepper. When well blended, add milk slowly, stirring constantly over low heat until mixture thickens and boils. Add cleaned shrimp, parsley, and pimiento. Stir a little of the sauce into the well-beaten egg yolk. Stir egg mixture into remaining sauce and mix well. Add lemon juice. Makes 6 generous servings.

New Makeup Glorifies Legs

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

Beauty and Fashion Editor

BEAUTIFUL FACE and beautiful legs . . . and what else has a girl got to worry about? With them she's wonderful . . . without them she's worried. And that's where we come in . . . little Miss Fixit.

It isn't strange to discuss the face and the legs in one column. Like bacon without eggs . . . peaches without cream . . . strawberries without the shortcake . . . there would be something missing if a beautiful face wasn't after-god with beautiful underpinnings.

Flattering foundations have more than justified their advent on the beauty horizon . . . have been the illusory fountain-of-youth for countless women. They've given facial expense the enviable finish of a gorgeous gardenia petal . . . made the skin willingly receptive to ultimate artistry . . . and covered a multitude of superficial complexion defects.

Similarly, leg makeup has flattered and glorified the limbs beyond description. And this season is expected to be the greatest season in leg makeup—the cosmetic industry has ever known. Maybe it's because of the nylon inadequacy . . . maybe women have simply come to appreciate the comfort which leg makeup assures . . . and the proxy nylon look. At any rate, a homeless season with legs deftly "applied" will be as natural as peace.

For a co-ordinated beautifying affect in makeup for both the legs and the face . . . one beauty house certainly excels in presenting this new theme. Their liquid cake makeup is like no other makeup . . . liquid and not drying . . . liquid, yet true cake makeup, without oil. And you don't have to be an expert to get expert results. After cream-cleansing your face . . . leave a slight film of cream on . . . and then simply blend this cake makeup in liquid form over your fingertips . . . for a most natural-looking, radiantly lovely illusion that you never thought possible. There is a choice of nine flattering shades.

And then with their leg makeup . . . which spreads over the legs like melted butter . . . create and camouflage hose that is just as lovely . . . if not more so . . . than the sheerest nylons. Between the foundation and the leg film . . . you have a perfect design for varying the beauty for the figure extenuates that mean so much to the complete appearance.

For the name of this liquid cake makeup and butter-spreading leg camouflage, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4600, Monday through Saturday, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Week-End at Boy's Home

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: 1—Very soon I am going to spend the week-end with the family of my boy friend (we aren't engaged), and I would like to know if I such a particularly hospitable invitation; this will make your boy friend proud of your good manners.

2—Yes, you should buy him a gift and take it with you to present to him either at the birthday party, if there is one, or at any other convenient time. You might take him: some white linen handkerchiefs, initialed; wallet or billfold; fountain pen or pencil, or set; box of letter-paper, perhaps with both large single and double sheets; game set; books of the kind you know he enjoys reading; collar box; smoking equipment or supplies; if he smokes; silver bill-clip; writing portfolio, pair of bookends or other item for his desk; subscription to a magazine or book-club.

3—No, my dear girl, saying "Thank you" for the nice week-end, when you leave, is definitely, most definitely, not enough. Your hostess will expect to receive a prompt "bread-and-butter letter" from you . . . and if it doesn't arrive, she'll have reason to doubt her son's discrimination in choosing you as a friend. So write your thank-you note a day or two after your return home; thank her for the kind invitation, for the hospitality in general; and don't forget to mention delightful features of your visit . . . how much you enjoyed knowing the family; how charming and comfortable your room was; how happy you were to meet their delightful guests, and mention particularly any special entertainment which they planned for you or to which they invited you to go with them. Be generous in your expression of appreciation for

Long Bridal Veil Means a Formal

I am borrowing my sister's white satin gown to wear at my June wedding. Now I am wondering what kind of veil to buy. Are long veils out-of-date and are fingertip veils to be considered only? E. S.

Indeed, long bridal veils are not out-of-date. When the bride plans to wear a wedding gown with a train and long veil, she indicates that her wedding is to be a formal one.

Chic Summer Ensemble

By BETTINA BEDWELL

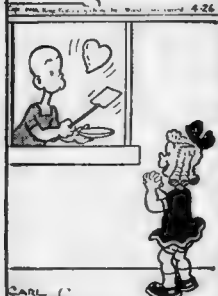

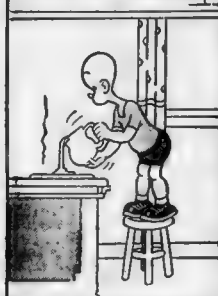

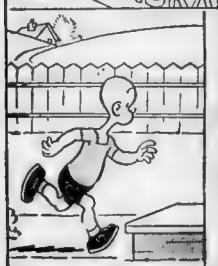

THE UNIFORM still has a lot of drawing power for the ladies of this country, and now that the Army and the Navy are reduced, you're going to find some of their colors flying in the fashions.

One scheme I have seen a lot of is the Navy blue and white with gold buttons. This is being used by good designers to make summer ensembles. Jo Copeland uses it for the ensemble that Miss Dulin has sketched.

Here a crisp white jacket is paired with a soft Navy blue crepe dress, and the whole thing picked up by gold buttons and a gold belt. Very attractive, this outfit. The dress has a skirt that drapes over the gold belt at the front and has gold buttons to fasten it on the left shoulder. The jacket sports the same buttons on the sleeves.

'Follies' Big Sounding Film, But Hardly World-Rocking

By PEGGY DOYLE

The only thing petty about MGM's extravagantly starry and technicolored production, "Ziegfeld Follies," is the signature on those glamour-girl calendars that trickled out of the publicity department to the nation's newspaper-movie desks during the three or four years the picture was in production.

All the big-making words . . . colossal, tremendous, stupendous . . . should have been saved for this costly film effort which, it is to be hoped, will bring back cake (with indigestible technical frosting) in return for the time, money and effort expended.

The "Follies" is a big-sounding but hardly a world-rocking film. It is an assortment of skits showcasing the studio's top stars, but lacking in the adhesive of showmanship to give it the Ziegfeld sterling-mark. The introductory sequence is easily the most imaginative and rewarding. It shows William Powell as the silvery-haired Florenz reminiscing in a luxuriously upholstered Valhalla tricked out with puppets representing the great stars in the continuing "Follies" down the years.

It is disappointing that the Gene Kelly-Fred Astaire dance act is not the news-making number it should have been made. The two go to Heaven in technicolor and, as a couple of harp-carrying but wingless angels in the hereafter, dance like angels. It was not news that each danced like an angel. It was certainly in the cards that dancing a duet they would dance like a pair of angels. It is disappointing that Metro's Producer Arthur Freed failed to fashion a platinum setting properly to set off their twin Robinson stepping. There are handsomely decked-up skits but in no integral design to give continuity to the whole.

Amusing are Red Skelton's familiar gin-drunk skit, indicating what television may have in store for us, and a Fanny Brice-William Frawley-Hume Cronyn travesty involving a winning sweepstakes ticket.

A number I frankly did not like presented Lena Horne, singing about "Love" against a typically Hollywoodian backdrop of prop Negro characters.

There are several examples of what I'd call embroidered embroidery . . . super duper productions that overpower and completely fail to charm as does a self-conscious clotheshorse of a woman.

Eather Williams, starred in an undersea ballet, caused us to miss her skill for trying to figure out if and how they did it with mirrors. The old Ziegfeld stars, Willie and Eugene Howard, are not in the show but their act about the shyder and the $2 fine is. Victor Moore and Edward Arnold do it.

James Melton sings some "Traviata" arias, Judy Garland guys the interviewers who helped make her what she is today and Kathryn Grayson sings beautifully if interrupted, for quantities of glamour-babes poke in and out of the celluloid with showgirl languor.

It's all too beautiful . . . outside of Victor Moore and Fanny Brice, that is, son . . . and cloying.

JUDY GARLAND
"Ziegfeld Follies"

JENNIFER TO BE JO

Jennifer Jones will be Jo in the David O. Selznick production of "Little Women," the Louisa M. Alcott classic which Selznick will produce in Technicolor with Merwyn LeRoy directing the picturization of the best-loved book in American literature.

Barnet Band Scores at RKO

"Characters" are as dominant in the RKO Boston's new film, "Deadline at Dawn," as are the brasses in Charlie Barnet's groovy orchestra now delighting that theater's jive-infatuated customers.

Paul Lukas, distinguished stage and screen star, turns up as a mystical cab-driver whose lofty philosophizing is going to make Boston's notably colorful men-at-the-wheel sound flagrantly illiterate by comparison.

A collie-eyed sailor, innocently involved in a murder, gets an astonishingly co-operative response from strangers who would help to clear him by dawn so that he may get back to his ship. The lad's sea-going garb is at odds with his bookish, stilted gab.

Susan Hayward's dime-a-dance girl, after a long night of having had her feet and her feelings stepped on simultaneously or alternately, appears surprisingly refreshed at 2 a. m. Reacting in a strictly un-Broadway fashion, Susan teams up with the sailor to return to the murdered girl's apartment to find clues that may clear him.

The two of them part to track down a couple of suspects, one an attractive blonde with a limp, The beautiful directness of screen sleuthing was never so clearly indicated as in these assorted instances. Each proceeds with Sherlock Holmes skill.

And such interesting people as they encounter! This plot-distracting trend developed such a perverse spirit in this film-reporter that we yearned to encounter on the screen a real-life, unsolvable clod who kept his mind on the road and not up in the clouds.

For us, the Barnet-men carry the RKO-Boston bill this week, with their solid sending.

The fair-haired sax tooter skips the solo to permit his men to get some expert licks in on the trumpet. Al Kilian-featured "Cherokee," the trombonist Tommy Pederson-featured "In the Moon Mist" and "Andy's Boogie," "Skyliner" and "Drop Me Off in Harlem."

Chris Cross, making his first appearance since his overseas servicemen's show tour, is here with his attention-getting singing dolls. Fran Warren, a petite, pretty blonde in a provocative strapless gown, sings "I Won't Be Satisfied," "You'd Be So Nice to Come Home To" and "Black Magic" to unanimous approval.

Hyde Park Friends Plead Review for Life-Term Vet

By AUSTEN LAKE

SOME MONTHS AGO this pillar published the strange case of a Hyde Park soldier, an ex-Boston policeman, 45-year-old father of a grown family, son of a reputable Boston businessman, who is serving a LIFE sentence since 1942 for armed robbery in Louisville, Ky.

I did not mention the man's name to save his family embarrassment. But I can do so now, because today I received a petition signed by 193 neighbors and friends which reads, in part: "... We are friends and acquaintances of Frank H. Doherty. As such we have personal knowledge of his earlier life and character. We are also interested in his present, and we believe unjustified, life confinement at Louisville, Ky. Frank Doherty in his home surroundings has been a man of fine character and good reputation. Never in his past life has he been involved in any sort of criminal offense or appeared before a criminal court. His life has been that of a good citizen who did his best to live up to his responsibilities.

"By reason of our long acquaintance with him we are sure that he is not guilty of the offense for which he was convicted and are satisfied that the circumstances contained in the transcript of the trial indicate grave doubts as to the factual evidence by which he was convicted. In justice we urge that his case be reviewed, feeling that upon such review his release from prison will be recommended by the Kentucky authorities in the interest of justice within our great democracy."

THE WRITER HAS INVESTIGATED Frank Doherty's background. I have the court testimony beside me as I write and its judgment by a Boston lawyer. It shows that the soldier was convicted on circumstantial evidence, plus his identification by a Louisville taxi driver who had a past police record.

Doherty was defended by a young Louisville lawyer assigned by the court. No defense witnesses were called except himself.

The robbery occurred during a stormy night on Nov. 10, 1942, after a brief ride through dimly lit streets. Yet the jury accepted the taximan's assertion that Doherty was "the bird" and, although the driver was in a high state of agitation so that his "knees were shaking" he had the calm perception to identify the mobster of a muzzie tip pressed against his side as an "automatic."

Thus, although Doherty testified that he didn't own a gun of any sort, the jury accepted the taximan's deposition and ruled it "armed robbery." No gun was ever found. Yet the court sentenced Doherty to LIFE.

There was more to it than that. For the taximan, with a curious persistence for facts, volunteered repetitiously that he had "faced up" his 10 or 12 one dollar bills which he had collected fares and stowed them in his wallet. And in their turn the police officers said they found 11 one dollar bills wadded in a lump, which, when unravelled were "faced up." The crumpled currency having been a month in possession of police and prosecution was exhibited in court. These few uncertain circumstances, plus the taximan's identification, plus Doherty's admission he had been intoxicated, were the basis for condemning the soldier to LIFE IMPRISONMENT.

NOR DID HIS COUNSEL file an appeal, thereby denying the man his right to review by higher court. The Army officers at Bowman field left the soldier flat. The Kentucky authorities refused to entertain later pleas from Doherty's parents for parole. The Louisville district attorney rejected clemency. Yet since then, the soldier's parents say, the trial judge and jury foreman have admitted to them that a miscarriage of justice occurred. So there the matter rests.

A running synopsis of the story, as revealed by the court trans-

Pelly Gives Sox Lift In Third Base Problem

By HUCK FINNEGAN

PHILADELPHIA, April 26—Boston's Red Sox had a "lift" today as they opened a four-game series with the A's here. Not only was Dave Ferriss pitching but the Sox were promising some help at third base. (Ferriss, incidentally, had his big league debut by blanking the A's last April 23.)

The third base question has been bothering Cronin ever since he released Jim Tabor. He's experimented with Ken Chapman and Jack Tobin (both gone to New Orleans) with Eric Andrews, Leon Culberson, Rip Russell, Eddie Pellagrini, Don Lang, Eddie Gilbert, Sam Mele and Ben Steiner. He wasn't satisfied. Eddie Joost, Heinie Madjeski were mentioned. Joost was a boyhood protégé of Cronin's in Frisco. Madjeski was a Braves veteran. However, Madjeski belonged to the Yanks and because the Yanks had Bill Johnson and Snuffy Stenewess, Madjeski was on the loose.

So the two Joos, McCarthy and Cronin, got together in Boston, and though the Sox would announce nothing on the deal, the New York writers insisted: "Madjeski will be the next Red Sox third baseman."

Eddie Pellagrini may have something to say about that. His triple off Roser, his double and home run off Zuber sparked the Sox to a 12-5 victory over the Yanks, who had defeated the Cronins by the identical score the day before.

But it wasn't Pellagrini we wanted to talk about. The more said about him, the more temptation to send him to Louisville. We want to talk about Johnny Pesky. There's a kid who played only three years of pro ball before the war. One was with Rocky Mount, one with Louisville, one with the Red Sox. He led in every league in the number of basehits made (Piedmont, American Association, American). He hit .325 in Rocky Mount, .325 in Louisville, .321 with the Sox. He's on his way to leading the A.L. in number of basehits made again this year.

Pesky was beamed Monday. He was at bat only twice. He didn't play Wednesday. Yet in the 10 games the Sox have played he's made 14 hits. He's batting .424. He's been at bat 33 times, and after he was beamed by Sid Hudson the press boxers were saying he'd be "plate shy."

So on his return to the game

Penn 400 Hurdles Won by Villanovan

PHILADELPHIA, April 26 (AP)—John Di Carlo of Villanova upset the dope to win the 400-meter hurdles, opening event of the 52nd University of Pennsylvania relay carnival, today as Army's Bernie Conner, winner a year ago, was shut out. Di Carlo took the first heat of the two section race in 55.1 seconds, a tenth of a second better than Conner's 1945 winning time.

Hubert Gates, national junior champion from Hampton Institute, took second position in the final placings, based on times for the two races, after coming from behind to win the second heat in 56.4.

Conner, running in the first heat, never was a contender and came in fifth, some ten yards behind Di Carlo.

Army's Jim Egger, second to Gates, earned third place with W. B. Simmon's of Duke, fourth and Andy Lamar of Army, fifth.

Laird Watt Name of Canadian Captain

MONTREAL, April 26 (AP)—Laird Watt of Montreal, one of Canada's outstanding tennis players before the war, today was named non-playing captain of the Dominion's Davis Cup team which will meet Mexico here June 13 to 15.

The 32-year-old Watt, just returned from overseas where he served with the RCAF, said he could not get into playing condition in the brief time remaining.

Braves Baseball Fans The week-end series with the Philadelphia Phillies will be played at FENWAY PARK

A special Box Office will be open all day Friday for the exchange and sale of tickets for the Saturday and Sunday games. Special tickets will be available at Fenway Park on Saturday and Sunday for the exchange of tickets. Included in the exchange will be 3 o'clock and Sunday's doubleheader will start at 1:30. Tickets will be on sale at Fenway Park Sunday, and every day thereafter for the sale of tickets to the Red Sox night game at Braves Stadium, on May 11. Philadelphia fans who own tickets to the Braves game, and to Braves Field.

Must Sleep

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The housing shortage cost the Hollywood stars a baseball player.

Catcher Stan Andrews, formerly of the Braves and Dodgers, was optioned to Birmingham of the Southern Ass'n. Andrews, after more than a month of searching, had notified Hollywood officials he couldn't find a place for his family to live.

Pesky, There's a kid who played only three years of pro ball before the war. One was with Rocky Mount, one with Louisville, one with the Red Sox. He led in every league in the number of basehits made (Piedmont, American Association, American). He hit .325 in Rocky Mount, .325 in Louisville, .321 with the Sox. Dutch Leonard Out For Another Week

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—Dutch Leonard, veteran knuckleballer of the Washington Senators, may be out of the game another week because of a sore leg.

Leonard pulled a muscle when he pitched the Senators to their first victory of the season over the New York Yankees in Yankee Stadium.

Pirates' Shortstop Goes Under Knife

PITTSBURGH, April 26 (AP)—Huck Geary, shortstop for the Pittsburgh Pirates, today underwent an operation at St. Francis Hospital for removal of cartilage from his right knee. Dr. Hulse Wagner, his physician, said Geary would be hospitalized eight to ten days.

Braves Home to Meet Phillies

By BILL GRIMES

Manager Billy Southworth had his Braves here today for the three-game series with Ben Chapman's Phillies which will be played at Fenway Park because of repairs being done at the Wigwam. The Braves have just returned from a short trip around the Eastern circuit which wasn't too bad, especially from a financial viewpoint. Having played to 118,933 in the Dodgers, Phillies and Giants ball parks, they pocketed $27,751.03, one of the most profitable trips any Braves team has made in recent years.

The very interesting road figures show that 44,785 cash customers saw the Braves play the Phils, and the B's share of the gate was $10,449.83. In Brooklyn attendance was 51,689, and the Braves share was $12,060.77. In New York 22,459 saw the games and the B's netted $5240.43.

That's far better than the Tribe ever did on the road and again proves, if proof were needed, that a new golden age of sport is roaring along.

Chapman's Phillies, which hold the rest of the league on its shoulders (2 wins, 6 losses for a .250 average), will be facing the Braves' ace, Johnny Sain, tomorrow. On Sunday, Southworth will send Mort Cooper and Al Javery after the twin bill.

Sain has already two victories (Dodgers on opening day here, and the Phillies in Shibe Park). He is pitching the best ball of the Southworth slingers. Neither one of his wins came easy for his mates didn't make very merry at the plate in either game.

Sunday's games are going to answer a big question for Southworth and the Braves fans... just how good are Cooper and Javery?

Cooper had the misfortune to face Ed Head when he was pitching no-hit-no-run ball the last time out. He hurried well enough to win many games but not that one. The best thing that could be said about that game was that Cooper went the route. Despite the loss, the Braves, especially the former Cards in the lineup, thought that Mort had his old time fire. The Phillies will be the best judges of that Sunday.

Javery is the man on the spot. He blew hot and cold during the training season and was brought along very slowly by Southworth. Billy realized that Al has the stuff to make the best teams in the league look bad at times, but the ailments that have hounded him this year have been too much for the slim slinger.

Chances are that if Javery fails to come up with a good pitching

Laprade Voted Rookie of Year

TORONTO, April 26 (AP)—Edgar Laprade, who spurned professional hockey offers for seven years before signing a contract, was named today as the National Hockey League's outstanding rookie of the year and winner of the Frank Calder trophy donated by the late former NHL president.

The 26-year-old forward of the New York Rangers won the award by the smallest margin in years in the annual poll conducted by the Canadian press among hockey writers in league cities.

Laprade is an Army veteran and he served in the Navy. The only other player to figure prominently in the voting was Jim Peters of the Montreal Canadiens, who received 123 points.

WCOP Broadcasts Slugfest Tonight

Kayo-minded Charley Fusari and Mexico's firebrand, Humberto Zavala (above) headline the fistie menu in New York tonight. Popular Bill Corum and fast-talking Don Dunphy will report this tondruller water attraction over the ABC network.

Fusari, New Jersey's newest bid for high welter honors, has an unbeaten record of 40 fights, with 27 knockouts. A straight, stand-up fighter, the Jerseyite has devastating dynamite in both mitts. He also boxes skillfully.

In facing Zavala, Fusari tackles a burst of fury, who always turns in a sharp performance. Humberto is a slam-bang fighter and master of the "switch" style which confuses many opponents. The sock trade looks for a rip-snorter. Enjoy the excitement, blow-by-blow, on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports over WCOP (1150 on your dial) at 10 p. m. And remember men... LOOK sharp! FEEL sharp! BE sharp! Use Gillette Blue Blades with the sharpest edges ever honed!

Cesario Choice to Beat Andrews in Arena Bout

By JACK CONWAY

JOHNNY CESARIO, North End lightweight who displayed a great deal of improvement as a boxer when he recently won from George Larover of Philadelphia, is favored to win from Dave Andrews of Lowell in their ten-round bout at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Arena tonight. Cesario, beaten by Gus Mell, came back to hold the Canadian to a draw. He then easily defeated Larover.

Dave Andrews entitled to the decision.

Andrews, a former All-America champion, has also looked better in recent starts. He will rely upon his punching power to offset Cesario's superior skill and speed.

The eight round semi-final will bring together Nick Stato of Springfield and Jimmy McLarnin. Stato won a close decision over McLarnin in a recent tussle.

Frankie Ross of the North End will be back in action in local rings with Johnny Wood of Dorchester as an opponent. Ross campaigned with success during the winter in Miami and West Palm Beach rings. This writer witnessed Ross score three of his victories in Florida. Ross showed fine boxing ability while he hit hard with each hand.

In other sixes, Roy Andrews of Lowell will oppose Steve Bellus of Toronto, while Jimmy Sauer of Cambridge will mingle with Jimmy Pettie of Woburn.

Larkin-Joyce Fit

TIPPY LARKIN and Willie Joyce, who will battle for the junior welterweight championship at a Callahan A. C. show at the Garden on next Monday night, are reported fit. Larkin has been training with Billy Conn in Jersey, while Joyce has been finishing his training at Harry Kelley's Gym on Hanover st.

Joyce has displayed an abundance of speed. Joyce is an aggressive, two-handed fighter like Hammering Henry Armstrong. While Joyce does not hit as hard as Armstrong did, he fires plenty of punches. If he is to win over Larkin, it will have to be on points as there is little likelihood of his scoring a kayo.

Larkin can punch as well as box. On form, Larkin is the best man of his weight in the world pound for pound. He will enter the ring a favorite, but he will be obliged to show at his best to win over the fast stepping Joyce. The latter showed his boxing class when he won from Bobby Zollo of Providence at the Garden.

Pesky and Pellagrini

IT WAS Johnny Pesky and Eddie Pellagrini who furnished the battling punch that enabled the Red Sox to get an even break in their series with the Yanks. Both of these youngsters looked impressive as they furnished the battling power to gain a Sox victory.

It was apparent that Pesky's recent injury, when he was hit on the head by a ball pitched by Sid Hudson of the Senators, has not had any permanent effect on him. There have been numerous cases where ball players have lost their effectiveness at the bat as a result of being hit on the head. Since Pesky returned to the game following his injury this writer has taken particular note of the way he has stood at the plate. I was anxious to find out if Pesky pulled away from the plate as soon as the pitch started. Johnny has not given a fraction of an inch to an opposing pitcher, and as a result he has been able to retain all of his ability as a batter. This was very apparent as the Sox sent the Yanks down to defeat.

The weakness of the Yanks' pitching staff was once more evident. Joe Cashman's crack that Joe McCarthy merely has "a lot of pitchers named Joe" appeared very true.

Membership Increase At Wright Golf Course

An increase in the membership of the George Wright Municipal Golf course at Hyde Park was announced today by Park Commr. William P. Long which to date has swelled the golf coffer to $6200.

Last year $5500 was realized in membership and green fees from 104 members. Close to 225 members at $25 per copy have signed to date and many more are expected when the weather moderates, not to mention the transient trade for which this course is famous.

Boston American, April 24—53

Rod and Gun 'Plastic Casters' Not So Lucky

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Eight members of the "Plastic Casters Club," composed of disabled servicemen from the Cushing General Hospital, Framingham, enjoyed "one of the nicest days in years" yesterday at the Norfolk pools of the Mass. Fish and Game Ass'n. where they fished for trout to their hearts' content.

The wily trout, however, were not very obliging to these combat vets, for only two were landed by midafternoon, but the lads planned to ply their rods until dark, possessing the patience of true anglers. Henry Monroe of Sumpter, S. C., wore a smile as broad as the pond as he exhibited the 10-inch brookie he hooked; while his pal, Conrad Lee, from Salem, Ore., captured a similar specimen on a streamer.

Then there were James Belcher, Fred Sneed and Oscar Patterson, all from North Carolina, who seemed to like New England fishing. "Back home we go after bass," they told us, "but these trout sure are fun—if we could only beat one."

John Giaccagnini of Memphis, Tenn., kept his reel spinning and his line singing all day, and perhaps he tied into a fish after we departed. He certainly deserved one!

"This is the first time I ever tried fly casting," declared William Allen of Presque Isle, Me., "and it's great sport! I had a couple of good strikes, but I guess I joined the 'one that got away club.'"

Joe Karrytais, Worcester, used a streamer he tied himself, with materials derived from a fly tying kit distributed by the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser, through the Disabled Veteran's Fund, made possible by readers. "The fish hit it," he said, "but I didn't land 'em."

High spot of the outing for the boys came at noonday lunch, when they feasted on frog's legs, cooked in the open. These delicacies were contributed by Parker Stute, caretaker of the grounds, who shot the frogs with a rifle. "The chaps from the South knew just how to prepare this tasty dish—and brother! did they make good eating!" was the unanimous comment.

Somerville, Lowell Game Postponed

Due to inclement weather, the spring football game scheduled for tonight at Alumni Field, Lowell, between Somerville and Lowell's grid teams, has been postponed until tomorrow night at 8 p. m.

At the same time, the Somerville high school athletic department announced postponement of a baseball game scheduled for Dillboy Field, Somerville, this afternoon between the local club and Everett High School's nine.

And even at this early date the fans are touting, both clubs as "teams to watch" in championship races.

Coach Barney Curtin's nine looked great in blanking Revere (9-0) in its opener earlier this week. Coach Tom Lynch has high hopes that his football eleven—or possibly it should be outlined as twenty-two—will be just as impressive in this experimental game that will ring down the curtain on off-season practice.

The football team has actually been working out for a month, but Coach Lynch, overwhelmed by the enthusiasm of the squad, insists that they've been out, on their own, all winter long. They never dropped football during the long winter months and that's one reason why he feels that this club will go a long way in equaling the mark of his '44 outfit which lost only one decision.

Another reason for the optimism is the fact that this team has depth—a quality completely lacking last fall. Right now Coach Lynch is considering complete team substitutions for tonight's game.

The first club, with seven veterans back in starting assignments, will have a line of ends: Don Wagner 170 and Dick Hume 155; tackles, Al Patiano 215 and Jerry Hamilton 190; guards, Al Thompson 200 and Capt. Bob Hurley 165; center, Al Whitman 175. The backfield lists Joe Mucci 160, Frank Simas 170, sophomore Sam Tino 190 and scatterback Al Bartalucci 135. Second stringers—almost on a par with the first club—include ends Frank Bellamacin, 180, and Alex Kaloyanides, 150; tackles Russ Mallard, 170, and John Giroux, 205; guards Nick Maropoulos, 165, and John Russo, 185; center Paul Nolan, 180; backs Paul Talmo, Hugo Vigoroso, Tom Batentelli, 180, Bob Belcher and Walter Donovan.

Somerville followers have no reason to complain against spring football. . . . It doesn't interfere in the least bit with the baseball program . . . of the baseball candidates, only one, Bob Ercolini, will be in line for a starting post on the football team . . . but a nose operation forced him to quit in his bid for an outfield berth . . . however, he'll be ready to play center in the fall.

Bill Stewart, Jr., son of the National League umpire, looks just like his father working the Boston schoolboy games. . . . incidentally, he's picking George "Sparky" Boudreau, Rosindale third sacker, as one of the most promising infielders of the season.

Detweiler Optimized To Indianapolis Club

Bob Detweiler, third baseman, has been optioned to Indianapolis, the Braves revealed today.

Bob was an all-around star, with considerable ability at bat, before the war, at Evansville. He entered the Army, however, rising from private to lieutenant during the war.

Last winter he hurt a wrist playing hockey and couldn't hold the bat properly in spring training. The Braves feel that with regular play in the minors Bob will regain his old touch as the injured wrist becomes stronger.

Sexton, Casey Go To Draw at Arena

After each had won a fall, Frank Sexton, world's wrestling champion and Steve Casey, battled the full 90 minutes to a draw at the Arena, last night. Sexton took the first fall in 32-18, with Casey evening up matters in 29-52.

The semi-final went to the Cardiff Giant, who pinned Pat Kelley in 10:18.

'I' Asks Phelan To Stop Tufts

The Harvard baseball team will try for its first win of the early campaign when it meets Tufts at Sellers Field Saturday. Joe Phelan, ex-Marine and veteran Harvard twirler, will try for the win.

The Harvard lost a heart-breaker to a strong Quonset team Wednesday at Rhode Island, 3-2. The Crimson tied it up in the ninth only to lose in the last half. The most pleasing part of the loss to the sailors was the fine showing of southpaw Johnny Kowlow who apparently has regained his 1945 form.

Don Swegan, shortstop, was spiked early in the game and was replaced by Paul Butler of Cambridge. Don is expected to be ready for the Tufts encounter.

Coach Floyd Stahl has shown by the Quonset game that he is ready to face the long line of local college nines. All the Crimson needed was some tight pitching for they have a smooth and capable infield as well as an outfield that will do its share of hitting.

Harvard Football 'Ban' Proves Fake

Harvard undergrads were in a dither for a short while today after copies of the Harvard Crimson announcing suspension of football were found. Then it was discovered the papers were fakes—printed by the Lampoon.

The publication set forth that President Conant had banned football and that coach Dick Harlow had resigned.

Welter Weiss 4th Boxer to Lose Life

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 26 — Welterweight Harry Weiss died of a cerebral hemorrhage in Nesbitt Memorial Hospital last night—the fourth boxer to lose his life as the result of a ring battle this year.

The 22-year-old New Yorker lost an eight-round decision to Fatsy Gall of Ireland, Pa., Wednesday night. He was floored by a hard right to the chin in the last round, but struggled to his feet at the count of nine as the round ended. Helped to his corner, Weiss collapsed.

Greenberg Best Of Jewish Athletes

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP)—Hank Greenberg, slugging first baseman of the world champion Detroit Tigers, has been named the outstanding Jewish athlete of the year by New York sports writers.

He will be awarded the Bar Cochba plaque at the first annual Jewish sports festival here tomorrow night.

Sid Tanenbaum, New York University basketball star, finished second.

B's Option Detweiler

The Braves optioned utility infielder Bob Detweiler to their Indianapolis farm today.

Detweiler played in 12 games with the Braves in 1942 before entering the service, batting .318.

Louis' Progress Pleases Trainer

DETROIT (AP)—Manny Seamon, trainer for World Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, arrived in Detroit for a visit and reported he was "well pleased" with Joe's progress in six weeks of light training at West Baden, Ind., for his June 19 title scrap with Billy Conn in New York.

"Lately Joe has been doing five miles a day on the road," Seamon said, "and five miles over those Indiana hills is equal to 20 miles on the flat."

Seamon said Louis had trimmed his weight to 216 pounds despite a steak and chicken diet.

Louis will leave West Baden Monday, April 29, for Pompton Lakes, N. J., where he will set up final training quarters, Seamon said.

4 Ex-Champions in

London Golf Tour

VIRGINIA WATER, England, April 26 (AP)—Four former British open champions—Henry Cotton, Alfred Padgham, Reg Whitcombe and Dick Burton—were among those who survived the first round of match play today in the London Star's $6000 golf tournament.

Cotton, playing in top form, was six under fours when he closed out W. D. Smith, 3 and 2. Padgham defeated A. G. Matthews, 1 up; Whitcombe eliminated his brother, Charles, on the 20th hole, and Burton beat A. J. Isherwood, 3 and 2.

Huskie, Eagles Game Postponed

The Boston College-Northeastern ball game that was slated to be played at Alumni Field this afternoon has been cancelled because of the wet condition of the playing field.

However, the Eagles and the Huskies will tangle on either May 20 or 21, which will close the two-game series that finds Northeastern victors 8 to 7 in the opener played a week ago.

Next on the B. C. docket is the resumption of baseball competition with Harvard after 25 years, which is scheduled for May 1 at Soldiers Field, Cambridge.

Walker Cooper Breaks Finger

NEW YORK (AP)—Catcher Walker Cooper, who cost the Giants $175,000, suffered a fracture of the little finger on his right hand. The mishap occurred in the fourth inning of the game between the Giants and the Braves when Carvel (Bama) Rowell fouled off one of Monty Kennedy's fast pitches.

After X-ray examinations, Dr. Francis J. Sweeney, New York club physician, said Cooper would be out of the lineup for at least four weeks.

Ferriss Faces A's for Red Sox

By HUCK FINNEGAN

PHILADELPHIA, April 27—Accustomed to playing before crowds of 30,000 of late, the Red Sox today found Philadelphiaans staying away by the 30,000s as they opened four-game series with the A's.

There seemed to be fewer than 1000 in the park when the game started in a cold drizzle.

Dave Ferriss was Boston's starting pitcher today. He was pitching in the park where he won his first major league game last April 29. He was making his third start of the '46 season. Washington and the A's having knocked him from the box in his first two starts.

His battery mate today was Eddie McGah, rookie from Oakland, Cal. This was McGah's first major league game, and he was starting because Hal Wagner's hand injury is kicking up and because Frankie Pytlak has a sore arm. McGah never played higher than Scranton in organized ball.

The A's pitcher was Dick Fowler, who dropped a two-hitter to the Sox in Boston last Saturday.

FIRST INNING
RED SOX—Culberson walked. Pesky sacrificed, Kell to McQuinn. Williams grounded to Handley. Culberson taking third. Doerr singled, scoring Culberson. York flied to Peck. ONE RUN.

ATHLETICS—Garrison popped to Doerr. Peck singled. McQuinn fanned. Chapman singled. Waller flied to Williams. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING
RED SOX—Metkovich beat out a hit. Pellagrini sacrificed and when Fowler threw the ball into right field, Metkovich scored and Pellagrini reached third. Kell threw out McGah. Ferriss flied to Chapman. Culberson flied to Chapman. ONE RUN.
